shuld mowe have recours to sue for remedie of injuries and wronges done to theym. And also where there ben grete and grevous riotes doon in the Weste Countrey, betwene Th'erle of Devonshire, and the Lord Boncyle, by the whiche soin Men have be murdred, some robbed, and Children and Wymen taken: It is thought that if suche Protectour and Defensour were had, that suche riotes and injuries shuld be souner punysshed, Justice largely ministred, and the lawe more duely to procede: Wherfore it myght lyke the said Lieutenaunte and all the Lordes, to be goode meanes unto the Kynges Highnesse, that suche a persone myght be purveide fore and had. And theruppon it was answered by the Archebisshop of Caunterbury, Chaunceler of Englond, that the said Lieutenaunt and all the Lordes, wolde comon and delibre uppon theire desire, and they shuld have suche aunswere as shuld be pleasyng to God, and profitte to the land.

De eodem.

32. ITEM, the Saturday, the xv day of the said moneth of Novembr', the said Burley, accompanied in grete nombre of the Communes, in name of all theire felawes, come before the said Lyeutenaunt and all the Lordes in this presente Parlement, openyng before theym; that howe uppon Thursday last past, it was desired by theym that were comen for the Communes of this lande, that for asmoche as it liked the Kynges Highnesse for certeyn causes meovyng hym, and that he myght not personelly entende to procede in matiers of Parliament, to assigne the Duc of York to be his Lieutenaunt in this his high Court of Parliament, to procede in suche matiers, as in the Kynges Letters Patentes theruppon made, radde and declared before the said Communes of this lande, is plainly conteyned. That it myght like their good Lordshippes, to be good meanes to the Kynges Highnesse, that if he for suche causes myght not personelly heraftre entende to the defense of this lande, to ordeyn and provide an hable persone to be Protectour and Defensour of this lande. It is yit thought to theym that be come to this high Court of Parlement for the Cões of this lande, that where there be mony grete and grevous riottes done in the West Contrey, where som Men ben robbed and som slayn, and mony grevously hurte and injuried, if the Kyng shuld be vexed and troubled with suche matiers, and that his people shuld have recours to his Highnesse to complayne, and sue to hym for their grevaunces, matiers and suetes, it shuld be overe grevous and tedious to his Highnesse, and that there must be a persone to whom the people of this lande may have recours to sue to for remedy of their injuries; for these causes, they that be comen for the Communes of this lande to this high Court of Parliament, required the said Lieutenaunt and all the Lordes, that it myght like theire good Lordshippes to be good meanes to the Kynges Highnesse, that suche persone myght be ordeyned and purveide, that shuld mowe entende to the protection and defence of this lande, and that they myght have knowelege of hym, his power and auctorite, the whiche shuld be to theym right grete comfort and consolation. Wheruppon it was aunswered by th'assent of the seid Lieutenaunt and Lordes, by the mouthe of the seid Chaunceler, that the said Lieutenaunt and all the Lordes woold comon uppon their desire, trustyng to God they shuld have therof good and comfortable aunswere.

Electio Protectoris.

33. ITEM, this same day, aftre the voidyng of the said Burley and of theym accompanied with hym out of the Parliament Chambre, this question was axed by the said Chaunceler of the Lordes; seyng, my Lordes, for asmoche as the Communes have made twies theire desire and requeste, and that it is understoud that they woll not ferther procede in matiers of Parliament, to the tyme that they have answere of theire desire and requeste, what is thought to your wysdomes that shuld be done in this behalfe? To the whiche question it was aunswered by all the Lordes: That for the causes above meoved by the said Communes, it were right expedient and behovefull, that suche a Protector and Defensor shuld be had as the Communes desired. And than the said Chaunceler seide to all the Lordes: sith it is expedient and behovefull that suche Protector and Defensor shuld be had, asked who that persone shuld be, and that it shuld lyke theym to name hym. And there it was aggreed by all the Lordes Spirituelx and Temporelx, every Lord severally yevyng his voice and assent, considered the grete nobleneesse, sadneesse and wysdome of the Duc of York, the sad governaunce and polletique rule had in this lande, the tyme that he was last Protectour and Defensour of the land, that he shuld nowe take the charge uppon hym ayen, aftre semblable presidences as he had it before: to the whiche the said Duc of York aunswered, praiyng and desiryng all the Lordes, that for asmoche as he knewe well that he was no persone hable neithir in wisdome ne in governaunce to take so grete and chargefull occupation uppon hym, to name and take anothir persone more able to so grete charge than he was, and be fully therof to be discharged: The whiche desire the Lordes in no wyse wold admitte. And than the said Duc of York seyde, that if so were that he shuld nedes take that occupation uppon hym, but onely for the grete trust that he had in the Lordes, that he wuld have of theym in that behalfe supportation, good assistence, counseill and aide, and also certeyn protestations, and that he myght theruppon be advised.

Requesta renovat' p' Communes p' Protectore habend'.

34. ITEM, the Monday, the xvii day of the said moneth of Novembre, it was shewed to the said Lieutenaunt and all the Lordes, by the mouth of Burley, accompanied in notable nombre of the Communes, in the name of all their felawes, that howe the seid Communes had dyvers tymes made requestes to theire good Lordships, that they shuld be good meanes to the Kynges Highnesse, that there myght be chosyn and made a Protectour and Defensour of this land, of the whiche requestes as yit they have none aunswere. And where as it is yit thought by theym that be come to this high Courte of Parliament for the Communes of this lande; for asmoche as this day they have knowelege and understondyng by suche persones whiche the said Lordes send to theym, that ther be grete and grevous riotes done in the West Contrey at the Cite of Excestre, by Th'erle of Devonshire, accompanied with mony riotouse persones, as it is seide with $^{c}_{viii}$ horsmen, and IIII M. fotemen, and there have robbed the Churche of Excestre, and take the Chanons of the same Churche and put theym to fynaunce, and also take the Gentilmen in that Contrey, and don and commytted mony othir grete and heynous inconveniences; that in abriggyng of suche riottes and inconveniences, suche a Protectour and Defensour must be had, and that they myght have knowelege of hym, his power and auctorite; and that he in abriggyng of suche riottes and offenses, shuld ryde and labour into that Cuntrey, for but if the said riottes and inconveniences were resisted, it shuld be the cause of the losse of that londe, and if that lond were lost, it myght be cause of the subversion of all this lande; wherefore they that be come for the Communes of this lande, desired the said Lieutenaunt and Lordes, for asmoche as the holy Fest of Cristemas approchith so nygh, that rathir than the lond shuld be loste, it myght like the said Lieutenaunt and all the Lordes, this present Parlia-

Aſſenſus Regis. 35. ITEM, this ſame day, the ſaid Chaunceler, by th'aſſent of the ſaid Lieutenaunt and all the Lordes, ſhewed and declared unto the Communes beyng in theire houſe accuſtumed: That where as the ſaid Communes had made dyverſe deſires and requeſtes to the ſaid Lordes, to be good meanes to the Kyng our Soverayn Lord, that for cauſes meoved by theym, ther myght be had a Protectour and Defenſour of this land. The Kyng our ſaid Soveraigne Lord, by th'advis and aſſent of his Lordes Spirituell and Temporell beyng in this preſent Parliament, had named and deſired the Duc of York to be Protectour and Defenſour of this land; the ſaid Lordes truſtyng verily that he wuld take it uppon hym. And that as for the ſubduyng and reſiſtence of the grete riottes and inconveniences that were done and committed, as it is ſeide in the Weſt Cuntrey, the ſaid Lieutenaunt and all the Lordes, have be and wull be, as diligent, as deſirous, and as coragious to the ſubduyng and reſiſtence therof, as they can or may be, and thonked the Communes of theire grete diligences and deſires made by theym in that behalfe. And as for the adjornyng, prorogyng or diſſolvyng of this Parliament, the ſaid Lieutenaunt, by th'advis of all the Lordes, wull procede theryn as the caſe ſhall require, and be moſt behovefull and expedient.

7. MEMORAND', quod quedam Petitio exhibita fuit prefato Domino Regi, in presenti Parliamento, sub eo qui sequitur tenore verborum.

PLEASE it youre Highnes to calle to youre noble remembraunce, howe Ye had Richard Duc of York in his yong age, in youre most high presence and noble Court, and hym all that tyme cherisshed and favoured; and afterward at gretter age, for the love, trust and affiance that Ye had in his persone, made hym youre Lieutenaunt of youre Realme of Fraunce and Duchie of Normandie, and created his 11 eldest sonnes Erles, and graunted hym Offices and grete benefettes, not oonly to hym, but also to his at contemplation of hym, so that it coude not be thought a subget of his estate of so litell deserte, to have had more cause to have been true, obeisaunt, and diligent to serve and love his Soveraigne Lord then he had. These benefettis and many other that myght be reherced notwithstondyng, howe falsely and traiterously he hath acquite hym to youre Highnes, ayenst God, nature, all trouth, humanite, and contrary to his Ligeaunce, howe be it youre Grace list not to take displeasure therof; yet it is openly knowen to youre Liege people his subtill, and savyng youre moost high reverence, his fals and traiterous ymaginations, conspiracies, feates, and diligent labours born up with colourable lies, compassed by the most unherd meanes that ever did eny Subget to his Soverayne Lorde. First, he beyng in Irland, by youre graunte youre Lieutenaunt there, at which tyme John Cade, otherwise called Jakke Cade youre grete Traitour, made a grete insurrection ayenst youre Highnes in youre Shire of Kent, to what entent, and for whome it was after confessed by some of hem his adherentes whan they shuld dye, that is to sey, to have exalted the seid Duc, ayenst all reason, lawe and trouth, to the estate that God and nature hath ordeyned You and youre succession to be born to. And within short tyme after, he comme oute of Ireland with grete bobaunce and inordinate people, to youre Paleis of Westmynster unto youre presence, with grete multitude of people harneised and arraide in manere of werre, and there bette downe the speres and walles in youre Chambre, havyng no consideration to youre high presence, by the which myght be understoud his disposition; at which tyme he was answered by You to his desires and demaundes, that it semed to all youre true subgetts, that the spiret of wisdome of God was in You: And he so answered departed fro You than confused, and youre true Liege people that herde therof it gretely rejoysed. And after this, in dyvers Parliamentis, he made crafty labours and desires to the amenusyng of youre power and auctorite Roiall, which were understoud to many of youre true people, savyng God put aswele in the hertes of youre Lordes, as of youre true Commons, accordyng to their duetes, to lette by all meanes eny thyng contrary to youre prosperite and wele, so that his malicious and traitours purpos was not acheved. And over that, he contynuyng in his malicious ententent, by subtill meanes thought to acheve his purpos by myght, wrote letters to many Citees, Boroughes and Tounes of this youre noble Realme, and to many pryvat persones of oon estate and other, colored under a pretense of a wele to have made a comon' insurrection, to th'entent to have made a feld beside Dertford in the Shire of Kent, ayenst You, Soveraigne Lord, to have distroied youre moost noble persone; but understonded by hym youre Knyghtly corage, and myght of youre hoost, he, beyng of noo power to withstond You, submytted hym in forme as was devised; and after was sworne, of his fre motion and desire, in the Cathedrall Chirche of Seint Poule in youre Citee of London, upon the blissed Sacrament and used it, and upon the holy Crosse, and also upon the holy Evaungelies by hym touched; Ye, Soveraigne Lord, beyng present, the Cardynall than Archebisshop of York, Dukes, Bisshops, Erles and Barons, fewe absent of all youre lond and people, so moche that bifore nor sithen can not be remembred so moche people at oon tyme seyne in that Chirche; which Othe by hym sworn as foloweth, was subscribed with his owen hande with his signe manuell, and also sealed by hym with the Seale of his armes, and so doon by his handes delyvered to You in fourme as foloweth.

His Oath to the King.

9. I RICHARD Duc of York, confesse and byknowe, that I am and aught to be humble Subget and Liegeman unto You my Soveraigne Lord Kyng Herry the Sext, and ought therfore to bere You feith and trouth, as to my Soverayne and Liege Lord, and so shall doo all the dayes unto my lyves ende; and shall not at eny tyme will nor assent, that eny thyng be attempted or doon ayenst youre moost Roiall persone, but what so ever I shall have knowlege of eny such thynges ymagined or purposed, I shall with all the spede and diligens possible to me to make, that your Highnes shall have knowlege yerof, and ever doo all that shall be possible to me, to the withstondyng therof to the uttereste of my lyf. I shall not in no wise eny thyng take upon me ayenst youre Roiall estate, or the obeisaunce that is due therto, nor suffre eny other man do, as ferforth as it shall lye in my power to lette it. And also I shall comme at youre commaundement, whan so ever I shal be called by the same, in humble and obeisaunt wise, but if I be letted by sikenesse or ympotencie of my persone, or by such other causes as shal be thought resonable to You, my Soverayn Lord. I shall never hereafter take upon me to gader eny Rowtes, or make eny assemble of youre people, without youre commaundement or licence, or my laufull defence: In the interpretation of which my laufull defence, and declaration therof, I shall report me at all tymes unto youre Highnes, and if the case require unto my Peres: Nor eny thyng attempt by wey of faite ayenst eny of youre Subgettes, of what estate, degre or condition they bee; but whan so ever I shall fele myself wronged or greved, I shall sue humbly for remedye unto your Highnes, and procede after the cours of your lawes, and in noon otherwise, sauf in myne owne laufull defence in maner abovesaid. And shall in all thyng' abovesaid and other, have me unto youre Highnes, as an humble and a true Subget ought to have hym to his Soverayn Lord. All these thinges abovesaid I promitte truly to observe and kepe, by the holy Evangelies conteyned in this Boke that I lay my hande upon, and by the holy Crosse that I here touche, and by the blessed Sacrament of oure Lordes body that I shall nowe with his mercy receyve. And over this, I aggre me and woll, that yf I at eny tyme hereafter, as with the grace of oure Lorde I never shall, eny thyng attempt, by wey of fait or otherwise, ayenst youre

And this that I here have promitted and ſworn, procedeth of myne owne deſire and fre volunte, and by noo conſtraynt nor cohercion. 10. AND after this, the ſeid Duk of York contynuyng in his ſeid malicious and traiterous purpoſe, confedered hymſelf with Richard Erle of Warrewyk, and Richard Erle of Saleſbury, to which 11 Erles Ye had ſhewed your grace and bounteous grauntes, in right ample wiſe; in ſo moche Ye graunted to the Erle of Warrewyk, preemynence above all Erles of youre londe, with other grete graces, makyng hym joynt in dyvers Offices with his Fadre: And to the Erle of Saleſbury, not oonly to be Warden of youre Weſt Marches, with ſuerte of payement by Patent, not accuſtumed bifore, but alſo made hym Juſtice of youre Foreſtis byyonde Trent, Capitall Stiward of youre Duchie of Lancaſtre of all the North; and over that, the Conſtabularies and Maiſter Forſterſhip of Pountfret and Galtres, with many other both of youre Croune and of youre ſeid Duchie: In ſo moche that he and his had in rule, all youre Caſtelles and honourable Offices, fro Trent northward; ſavyng the kepyng of youre Caſtell of Knareſburgh, that Sir William Plompton hath for terme of his lyf, after whos deceſſe the kepyng therof was by You graunted to the ſeid Erle of Saleſbury. Yet all this notwithſtondyng, and alſo youre high commaundement of the contrary, they aſſembled theym togidre with grete multitude of people harneiſed, and other abillementis of Werre, as Gonnes and other, and come to the Toune of Seint Albones in youre Shire of Hertford, where Ye, Soverayn Lord, were preſent, and youre Baner diſplaied there, and there they falſely and traiterouſly rered Werre ayenſt You, by the which youre Roiall perſone was ſore hurte, and in grete perell of youre lif: And alſo they ſlewe dyvers Lordes of youre blode, that is to ſey, the Duc of Somerſet, and the Erle of Northumberlond, and the Lord Clifford, Knyghtes and Squiers, with other youre Liege people, and many of theym hurte, robbed and diſpoilled. And the hurtyng of youre mooſt Roiall perſone, can never oute of the hertes of youre true Liege people. Nevertheleſſe, Soverayn Lord, Ye preferryng Mercy bifore Juſtice, for pacification of youre Roialme, and in eſpecially atte reverence of God, auctor of peas, and Fadre of mercy, toke ſuch meanes in that bihalf, that they ſtode as bifore under youre protection and lawes; and for there ſhuld not growe a gretter inconvenience therof, Ye gaf in commaundement to certayne of youre Prelates, and Lordes of youre blode, that they by the Counſeill of youre Jugges, ſhuld in youre bihalf labour the meanes of parfit accorde, bitwene theſe mooſt unkynde Duc, and Erles of Warrewyk and Saleſbury, on that oon partie, and the Duc of Somerſet, the Erle of Northumberlond, and the Lord Clifford, on that other partie; whos Faders there in youre preſence, for their trouth were ſlayne, in perpetuell recommendation of theym; ſo that fynall tranquillite and reſt myght have enſued, and unyte in the hertes of youre Lordes, to verray obeiſaunce of God and You. In accompliſhment wherof Ye come to your Paleis of Weſtm', and there by the aggrement of the ſeid parties, ſolempnely gave a decre and laude betwene theym at that tyme, to the grete rejoiſyng of youre people. Forthermore, Soverayne Lord, like it youre Highnes to remembre, howe at youre Citee of Coventre, in youre grete Counſeill holden there, after dyvers rehercels by youre Chaunceller of Englond in youre mooſt high preſence made to the ſeid Duc of York; the Duc of Bukyngham, on the bihalf of the Lordes Temporell, reherced full notably to make the ſeid Duc of York to underſtonde of what demeanyng he had been, and lete hym witte that he had no thyng to lene to, ſauf oonly youre Grace, as more playnly is conteyned in an Acte therof made. And there and than the ſeid Duc of Bukyngham, and all other Lordes, knelyng on ther knees biſought You, ſeyng the grete Jupartie for youre mooſt noble perſone, and alſo the Lordes ſo often charged, and inquietyng ſo often the grete parte of your Realme, that it ſhuld not lyke You to ſhewe the ſeid Duc of York, nor noon other hereafter grace, if they attempted eftſones to doo the contrary to youre Roiall eſtate, or inquietyng of youre Realme, and the Lordes therof, but to be punyſſhed after their deſerte, and have as they deſerved, aſwell for the ſuerte of You, Soverayne Lord, as the generall ſuertee of all youre Lordes and people: To which it lyked You then to ſey, that Ye wuld ſo doo, the ſeid Duc of York at the ſame tyme beyng preſent. Alſo it was enacted there, that no Lord ſhuld attempt by wey of fayt ayenſt other, but in that he felde hym greved, he ſhuld compleyne hym unto youre Highnes, and to youre lawes, and by that meane have redreſſe and in noon otherwiſe, with more as is conteyned in the ſame Acte. The ſeid Duc of York there ſwore on the holy Evaungelies, and ſigned the Acte with his hande, and ſemblably the ſeid Erle of Warrewyk there ſwore and ſigned the ſame Acte; Copies of which Actes to this Bille been annexed. It is alſo to be remembred, after the graces and pardons by You given to this mooſt unkynde Duc of York, the Erle of Warrewyk, and the Erle of Saleſbury, howe they laboured and deviſed the mervelous Acte of Parlement to be made, for the execrabill and mooſt deteſtable dede by theym doon at Seint Albones aforeſeid: yet that youre Subgettis ſhuld thynk Ye called no thyng to mynde of tyme paſſed, youre high Grace made the ſeid Erle of Warrewyk Captaigne of youre Toune and Caſtell of Caleis, and of the Marches there, in as ample fourme as had eny of your Uncles, or eny other Prynce or Lorde that ever was Captaigne there. And over this, graunted the ſame Erle to have governance and rule of the See, and named hym youre grete Captaigne of the See; and to the ſuſtentation of this charge, graunted hym all the Tonnage and Pondage bilongyng to You in eny wiſe, with M li. by yere, to be taken by the handes of youre Receyvour of the Londes and Tenementes of youre ſeid Duchie of Lancaſtre, beyng in feoffement. Theſe thynges thus reherced to youre Highnes, beſide many other benefettis and graces to theym doon, the mooſt diabolique unkyndneſſe, and wrecched envye in theym, and mooſt unreſonable appetite of ſuch eſtate, as of reaſon ought not to be deſired nor had by noon of theym, nor to noon erthely creature but to You alone, and to youre ſucceſſion, in which oure Lord of his grace conſerve it to the ende of the world. And on the other bihalf, their grete grauntes and benefettis to hem doon, wold have conſtrayned of reaſon eny reoſonable man, to have loved, ſerved, and doon the uttermoſt that coude have be thought in his power, to hym that had ſo avaunced and preferred hym, and mooſt ſingulerly his Soverayne Lord by whom he myght mooſt be worſhipped, by which had ſhewed ſuch bountees and magnificences to hem, and ſpared her mervelous offences ſo often doon, and venquiſed ther malice but oonly with mercy: and it is not to be forgeten the Othe and ſuerte that the Erle of Warrewyk made, ſignet of his hand, and ſealed with his ſeale; the copie of wherof is annext herto. No vi. Against the Lord Stanley.

38. TO the Kyng oure Soverayne Lord; Shewen the Commens in this present Parlement assembled. That where it pleased youre Highnes to send to the Lord Stanley, by the servaunt of the same Lord fro Notyngham, chargyng hym that upon his feyth and legeaunce, he shuld come to youre Highnesse in all haste, with such felysshep as he myght make. The said Lord Stanley, notwithstondyng the said commaundement, come not to you; but William Stanley his Brother went, with many of the seid Lordes Servauntz and Tenauntz, grete nombre of people, to the Erle of Salesbury, which were with the same Erle at the distressyng of youre true Liege people at Bloreheth.

Also where youre said Highnes gaffe in commaundement to youre first begoten sonne Edward Prynce of Wales, to assemble youre people and his Tenauntz, to resiste the malice of youre Rebelles, and theruppon the same noble Prynce sent to the said Lord Stanley, to come to hym in all haste possible, with such felysshep as he myght make. The said Lord Stanley, puttyng the seid mater in delay, feyntly excused hym, seying he was not than redy. Howe be it of his owen confession, he had before a commaundement fro youre Highnes, to be redy to come to the same with his said felsship, upon a day warnyng; which delay and absence, was a grete cause of the losse and distresse of your seid people atte Bloreheth.

Also where the seid Lord had sent his servaunt to oure Soverayne Lady the Quene, and to the seid noble Prynce to Chestre, seying that he shuld come to theym in all haste; and after that he sent to theym Richard Hokesley his servaunt, to Egglesshall, certifying theym that he wold come to theyme in all haste; and desired, for asmoche as he understode that he was had in jelosye, that he myght have the vaward ageyne the Erle of Salesbury, and his felysshep; and the seid noble Prynce, be th'advice of his Counsell, consideryng that the felysship of the said Lord Stanley was fewer in nombre, than the felysship of the said Erle, willed and desired hym to come to the said noble Prynce and his felysship, that they beyng all togedyr, myght come to have assisted youre Highnes, which was promysed feithfully be his seid servaunt shuld be perfourmed in all haste; which notwithstondyng was not perfourmed, but in defaute therof, youre people were distressed at Bloreheth aforesaid, as is well knowen. Howe be hit that the seid Lord Stanley, was within vi mile of the said Heth the same tyme, accompanyed with ii m. men, and rested hym with the same felysship, be the space of iii dayes after at Newcastell, but vi myle oute of Egglesshall, where the Quene and the Prynce then were; and the said Lord Stanley, on the morne next after the distresse at Bloreheth, sent a letter for his excuse to oure Soverayne Lady the Quene, and the said noble Prynce; which said letter, your said Highnes had sent to hym, commaundyng hym by the same, to have come to youre said Highnes with his felysshep in all haste: which came nethir to youre Highnes, to the Quene, nor to the seid Prynce, but soo departed home agayne.

Also when the seid Erle of Salesbury and his felysship, had distressed youre said people at Bloreheth, the said Lord Stanley sent a letter to the said Erle to Drayton, the same nyght, thankyng God of the good spede of the said Erle, rejoysing hym gretely of the same, trustyng to God that he shuld be with the same Erle in other place, to stond hym in as good stede, as he shuld have doon yef he had been with theym there; which letter the seid Erle sent to Sir Thomas Haryngton, and he shewed hit openly, seying; Sirres, be mery, for yet we have moo frendis.

Also where as a Squier of the said Erles, on the Monday next after the said distresse, told to a Knyght of youres, which was taken prisoner by the felysship of the seid Erle at Bloreheth, that a man of the Lord Stanleys, had been with the seid Erle at Drayton, in the mornyng of the same day, and brought hym word fro the (m. 14.)

the ſeid Lord Stanley, that your Highnes had ſent for hym, and that he wold ride to you with his felyſship. And yef eny man wold reſiſte or lette the ſeid Erle to come to your high preſence, for his excuſe, accordyng to th'entent of the ſaid Erle; that than the ſaid Lord Stanley and his felyſship, ſhuld lyve and dye with the ſaid Erle, ayenſt his reſiſtours.

Alſo where the ſaid noble Prynce, in fullfillyng of your high commaundement, ſent as wele for your people and his Tenauntez in Werall Hundred, as in Maxfeld Hundred in Cheſhire; the ſaid people and Tenauntez, were lette by the ſeid Lord Stanley, ſo that they myght not come to youre Highnes, nor to ye preſence of the ſaid noble Prynce.

Alſo where a Servaunt and oon of the Cokys of the ſaid Lorde Stanleys, was hurte atte Bloreheth, beyng with William Stanley, in the felyſship of the ſaid Erle of Salesbury, and left behynde at Drayton; declared openly to dyvers gentilmen of the felyſhep of Th'erlez of Shrewysbury, that he was ſent to the ſaid Erle of Salesbury, in the name of the ſaid Lord Stanley, with moo of his felyſship.

Alſo where certayne perſones beyng of the lyvere and clothyng of the ſaid Lord Stanley, were take at the Foreſt of Morff in Shropſchire; the day afore theire deth confeſſed, that they were commaunded in the name and behalve of the ſeid Lord Stanley, to attend and awayte upon the ſeid William Stanley, to aſſiſte the ſaid Erle in ſuch matier as he intended to execute.

A. D. 1459. 38 Hen. VI.

Of all which matiers doon and commytted by the ſaid Lord Stanley, we youre ſaid Commens accuſe and enpeche hym; and pray youre mooſt high Regalie, that the ſame Lord be commytted to priſon, there to abide after the fourme of lawe.

The Duke of York's Claim to the Crown.

10. MEMORAND', that the XVI day of Octobr', the IX^th^ daye of this present Parlement, the Counseill of the right high and myghty Prynce Richard Duc of York, brought into the Parlement Chambre a writyng, conteignyng the clayme and title of the right, that the seid Duc pretended unto the Corones of Englond and of Fraunce, and Lordship of Irelond, and the same writyng delyvered to the Right Reverent Fader in God George Bisshop of Excestre, Chaunceller of Englond, desiryng hym that the same writyng myght be opened to the Lordes Spirituelx and Temporelx assembled in this present Parlement, and that the seid Duc myght have brief and expedient answere therof: wheruppon the seid Chaunceller opened and shewed the seid desire to the Lordes Spirituelx and Temporelx, askyng the question of theym, whither they wold the seid writyng shuld be openly radde before theym or noo. To the which question it was answered and agreed by all the seid Lordes: In asmuche as every persone high and lowe, suyng to this high Court of Parlement, of right must be herd, and his desire and Petition understande, that the said writyng shuld be radde and herd, not to be answered without the Kyngs commaundement, for so moche as the mater is so high, and of soo grete wyght and poyse. Which writyng there than was radde; the tenour wherof foloweth, in these wordes:

His Pedigree and Title.

11. IT is not to be forgoten, that the right noble and wurthy Prince, Henry Kyng of Englond the third, had issue and leefully gate Edward his first begoten son, born at Westm' the XV Kalends of Juyll, in the Vigill of Seint Marc and Marcellian, the yere of oure Lord MCCXXXIX, and Edmond his secund goten son, which was born on Seint Marcell day, the yere of oure Lord MCCXLV. The which Edward, after the deth of the seid Kyng Herry his Fader, entitled and called Kyng Edward the first, had issue Edward his first begoten son, entitled and called after the decesse of the seid first Edward his Fader, Kyng Edward the secund: Which had issue and lefully gate the right noble and honorable Prynce Edward the third, true and undoubted Kyng of Englond and of Fraunce, and Lord of Irelond: Which Edward the third, true and undouted Kyng of Englond and of Fraunce, and Lord of Ireloud, had issue and lefully gate Edward his first begoten son Prince of Wales, William Hatfeld secund begoten, Leonell third begoten Duc of Clarence, John of Gaunte fourth begoten Duc of Lancastre, Edmond Langley fyft goten Duc of York, Thomas Wodestok sixt goten Duc of Gloucestre, and William Wyndesore the seventh goten. The seid Edward Prynce of Wales, which dyed in the lyf of the seid Edward Kyng, had issue and lefully gate Richard, the which succeeded the same Edward Kyng his Graunt̃re in Roiall dignite, entitled and called Kyng Richard the secund, and died without issue. William Hatfeld the secund goten son of the seid Edward dyed withoute issue. Leonell the third goten son of the same Edward Kyng Duc of Clarence, had issue and lefully gate Phelippe his oonly Doughter and heire; which, by the sacrament of matrymonye copled unto Edmund Mortymer Erle of Marche, had issue and lefully bare Rogier Mortymer Erle of Marche, hir son and heire; which Roger Erle of Marche had issue and lesully gate Edmund Erle of Marche, Rogier Mortymer, Anne and Alianore; which Edmund, Roger and Alianore dyed withoute issue; and the seid Anne, under the sacrament of matrymony copled unto Richard Erle of Cambrigge, the son of the seid Edmund Langley, the fyft goten son of the seid Kyng Edward as it is afore specified, had issue and lefully bare Richard Plantaginet, commonly called Duc of York. The seid John of Gaunt, the fourth goten son of the seid Kyng Edward, and the yonger brother of the seid Leonell, had issue and lefully gate Henry Erle of Derby, which incontynent after the tyme that the seid Kyng Richard resigned the Corones of the seid Realmes, and the seid Lordship of Irelond, unrightwissely entred uppon the same, then beyng on lyve Edmund Mortymer Erle of Marche, son to Roger Mortymer Erle of Marche, son and heire of the said Phelippe, Doughter and heire of the seid Sir Leonell, the third son of the seid Kyng Edward the third; to the which Edmund, the right and title of the seid Corones and Lordship by lawe and custume belonged. To the which Richard Duc of York, as sonne to Anne, Doughter to Rogier Mortymer Erle of Marche, son and heire to the seid Phelippe, Doughter and heire to the seid Leonell, the third goten son of the seid Kyng Edward the third, the right, title, dignite roiail and estate, of the Corones of the Realmes of Englond and of Fraunce, and of the Lordship and Land of Irelond, of right, lawe, and custume apperteyneth and belongeth, afore eny issue of the seid John of Gaunt, the fourth goten son of the same Kyng Edward.

A. D. 1460. 39 Hen. VI.

12. AND afterward, the XVII day of October, the X^th^ day of this present Parlement, the seid Chaunceller shewed and declared to the seid Lordes Spirituelx and Temporelx beyng in the same Parlement, howe that the Counseill of the seid Duc of York, gretely desired to have answere of such writyng, as uppon the XVI day of October last passed was put into this present Parlement, on the behalf of the seid Duc, and theruppon asked the seid Lordes, what they thought was to be doon in that matier. To the which question it was answered and thought by all the seid Lordes, that the matier was so high and of such wyght, that it was not to eny of the Kynges Subgetts to enter into communication therof, withoute his high commaundement, agreement and assent had therto. And ferthermore, for asmoch as the seid Duc desired and required bref and undelaied answere of the seid writyng, and in eschuyng and avoidyng of grete and manyfold inconveniences that weren lykly to enſue, yf haſty proviſion of good anſwere in that behalf were not had, it was thought and agreed by all the Lordes, that they all ſhuld goo unto the Kyng, to declare and open the ſeid mater unto his Highnes, and to underſtond what his good grace wuld to be doon ferther therin. And theruppon incontynent all the ſeid Lordes Spirituelx and Temporelx went to the Kyngs high preſence, and therunto opened and declared the ſeid mater, by the mouth of his ſaid Chaunceller of Englond. And the ſame matier by the Kynges Highnes herd and conceyved; It pleaſed hym to pray and commaunde all the ſeid Lordes, that they ſhuld ſerche for to fynde in aſmuch as in them was, all ſuch thyngs as myght be objecte and leyde ayenſt the cleyme and title of the ſeid Duc. And the ſeid Lordes beſaught the Kyng, that he wuld remember hym, yf he myght fynde any reſonable mater that myght be objected ayenſt the ſeid cleyme and title, in ſo moche as his ſeid Highnes had ſeen and underſtouden many dyvers writyngs and Cronicles. Wheruppon, on the morn the xviii day of October, the xi^th day of this preſent Parlement, the forſeid Lordes ſent for the Kyngs Juſtices into the Parlement Chambre, to have their avis and Counſell in this behalf, and there delyvered to theym the writyng of the cleyme of the ſeid Duc, and in the Kyngs name gave theym ſtraitely in commaundement, ſadly to take aviſament therin, and to ſerche and fynde all ſuch objections as myght be leyde ayenſt the ſame, in fortefying of the Kynges right.

Referred to the Juſtices.

Who refuſe to give any Opinion.

Wherunto the ſame Juſtices, the Monday, the xx day of Octobr' then next enſuyng, for their anſwere uppon the ſeid writyng to theym delyvered ſeiden, that they were the Kyngs Juſtices, and have to determyne ſuch maters as com before theym in the lawe, betwene partie and partie, and in ſuch maters as been betwene partie and partie they may not be of Counſeill; and ſith this mater was betwene the Kyng and the ſeid Duc of York as two parties, and alſo it hath not be accuſtumed to calle the Juſtices to Counſeill in ſuch maters, and in eſpeciall the mater was ſo high, and touched the Kyngs high eſtate and regalie, which is above the lawe and paſſed ther lernyng, wherfore they durſt not enter into eny communication therof, for it perteyned to the Lordes of the Kyngs blode, and th'apparage of this his lond, to have communication and medle in ſuch maters; and therfore they humble byſought all the Lordes, to have theym utterly excuſed of eny avyce or Counſeill, by theym to be yeven in that matier.

And then the ſeid Lordes, conſideryng the anſwere of the ſaid Juges, and entendyng to have the advice and good counſeill of all the Kynges Counſeillers, ſent for all the Kyngs Sergeauntes and Attourney, and gave theym ſtraight commaundement in the Kyngs name, that they ſadly and aviſely ſhuld ſerche and ſeke all ſuch thinges as myght be beſt and ſtrengeſt to be alegged for the Kynges availe, in objection and defetyng of the ſeid title and clayme of the ſeid Duc.

Wherunto the ſeid Sergeaunts and Attourney, the Wenſday than next enſuyng, anſwered and ſeiden, that the ſeid mater was put unto the Kynges Juſtices; and howe, the Monday then laſt paſſed, the ſame Juſtices ſeiden and declared to the ſeid Lordes, that the ſeid mater was ſoo high and of ſoo grete wight, that it paſſed their lernyng, and alſo they durſt not entre eny communication in that matier, to yeve eny avyce or Counſeill therin; and ſith that the ſeid matier was ſoo high that it paſſed the lernyng of the Juſtices, it muſt nedes excede their lernyng, and alſo they durſt not entre eny communication in that matier, and prayed and beſought all the Lordes to have theym excuſed of yevyng eny avice or Counſaill therin.

To whome it was anſwered, by th'avis of all the Lordes, by the ſeid Chaunceller, that they myght not ſo be excuſed, for they were the Kynges particuler Counſeillers, and therfore they had their fees and wages. And as to that the ſeid Sergeaunts and Attourney ſeiden, that they were the Kyngs Counſeillers in the lawe, in ſuch things as were under his auctorite or by commiſſion, but this mater was above his auctorite, wherin they myght not medle, and humbly beſought the ſaid Lordes, to have theym excuſed of yevyng eny Counſeill in that matier: And it was anſwered agayn, that the Lordes wuld not hold theym excuſed, but let the Kynges Highnes have knowleche what they ſeid. And theruppon the ſeid Chaunceller remembred the Lordes Spirituelx and Temporelx, of the ſeiynges and excuſes of the Juſtices, and the ſeying and excuſes of the Sergeaunts and Attourney, and alſo the grete commaundement of the Kynges Highnes that they had, to fynde all ſuch objections as myght be mooſt myghty, to defend the Kynges right and title, and to defete the title and clayme of the ſeid Duc of York: And alſo that the Kyng myght underſtond, that the ſeid Lordes diden their true and feithfull devoire and acquitaille in the ſeid mater, deſired all the Lordes, that every of theym ſhuld ſey what he cowede ſey in fortefiyng the Kyngs title, and in defetyng of the clayme of the ſeid Duc. And than it was agreed by all the Lordes, that every Lord ſhuld have his fredome to ſey what he wuld ſey, withoute eny reportyng or magre to be had for his ſeiyng. And theruppon, after the ſeiyng of all the Lordes, every after other, it was concluded, that thes maters and articles hereunder writen, ſhuld be alegged and objecte ayenſt the ſeid clayme and title of the ſeid Duc.

Objectiones contra Titulum predictum.

13. FIRST, it is thought that the Lordes of this lond muſt nedes calle to their remembrauncez, the grete Othes the which they have made to the Kyng oure Soverayn Lord, the which may be leyde to the ſeid Duc of York, and that the Lordes may not breke thoo Othes.

ITEM, it is thought alſo, that it is to be called to remembraunce, the grete and notable Acts of Parlements, made in dyvers Parlements of dyvers of the Kyngs Progenitours, the which Acts be ſufficient and reſonable to be leyde ageyn the title of the ſeid Duc of York: The which Acts been of moche more auctorite than eny Cronycle, and alſo of auctorite to defete eny manere title made to eny perſone.

ITEM, it is thought that ther is to be leyde ageyn the ſeid title, dyvers entayles made to the heires males as for the Corone of Englond, as it may appere by dyvers Cronicles and Parlementes.

ITEM, it is thought yf the ſeid Duc ſhuld make eny title or clayme, by the lyne of Sir Leonell, that the ſame Duc ſhuld bere the armes of the ſame Leonell, and not the armes of Edmund Langley late Duc of York.

ITEM, it is to be allegged ageyn the title of the ſeid Duc, that the tyme that Kyng Herry the fourth toke uppon hym the Corone of Englond, he ſeid he entred and toke uppon hym the Corone, as right enheriter to Kyng Herry the third, and not as a Conquerour.

TO the which Articles the ſeid Duc of York yave his anſwers in writyng, as folowen:

14. HERE

A. D. 1460. 39 Hen. VI.

Responsiones prefati Ducis ad objectiones Tituli sui predicti.

14. HERE under folowen the answeres of Richard Plantaginet, called commonly Duc of York &c. to certain raisons and colours alleged as it is said ayenst the matier of his right and title &c.

Furst, where it is said that it is thought that the Lordes must nedes calle to theire remembraunce, the grete Othes which they have made to the Kyng, which may be leyde to the seid Duc, and that they may not breke thoo Othes:

The said Richard answereth and saith, that every man, under the peyne of everlastyng dampnation, is bounden to obeye to the lawe and commaundementes of God, by the which lawe and commaundementes, trouth and justice owe to bee preferred and observed, and untrouth and injustice leyed apart and repressed; and soo it is, that of this bonde and duetee of obedyence to Godds lawe, noo man may discharge hymsilf by his owen dede or act, promisse or ooth, for elles of the contrary wold ensue innumerable inconveniences. Wherfore sith it is soo, that the mater of the title and clayme of the seid Richard Plantaginet, is openly true and lawfull, and grounded upon evident trouth and justice, it foloweth that man shuld have rather consideration to trouth, right and justice in this mater accordyngly with the wille of the lawe of God, then to any promise or ooth made by hym into the contrarie; considered namely, that by the lawe and determination of holy Chirche, an oth made by oon persone, unto the prejudice or hurt of an other, contrary to trouth, justice and charitee, in the which standeth the plenitude and perfection of Godds lawe, is voide and of noon effect, neither in any wise obligatorie; and that the vertu and nature of an ooth is to conferme trouth, and of noo wise to ympugne it; and over that, that by the ooth of feaute, homage or ligeaunce, noo man is bounden to any inconvenient or unlawfull thyng. And howe bee it that this answere is sufficant to all maner objections that may be made ayenst his clayme and entent in this partie, by reason or occasion of any ooth, yit natheles the seid Richard, for asmuch as the mater of Othes is a mater spirituell, for more declaration of his conscience, honeste, and trouth in this partie, offreth hymsilf redy to answere before any Juge spirituell competent, in place and tyme covenable, to all manere of men that any thyng wull purpose ayenst hym in that behalf.

And to shewe clerely, that lawfully, withouten offence of God and conscience, he may clayme and pursue his right, and desire Justice in such forme as he dooth, and that all other persones, and namely the Peres and Lordes of this Reaume may, and by the lawe of God and man aught, to helpe and assiste hym in trouth and justice, notwithstondyng any Ooth of Feaute or other by hym or theym herebefore made.

15. OVERE this, where it is thought also that it is to be called to remembraunce, the grete and notable Acts of Parlement, made in dyvers Parlementes of dyvers of the Kynges Progenitours, the which Actes been sufficient to be leyed ayenst the title of the said Duc, and of more auctorite then eny Cronycle, and also of auctorite to defete any manere title made to eny persone:

(m. 3.) And also where it is seid, that it is to be leyde ayenst the said title, dyvers entailles made to the heires males as for the Corone of Englond, as it may appere by dyvers Cronicles and Parlementes:

The seid Richard Plantaginet answereth and saith, that in trouthe ther been noon such Actes and tailles made by eny Parlement herebefore, as it is surmysed; but oonly in the VI^th yere of Kyng Herry the fourth, a certayn Acte and Ordynaunce was made in a Parlement by hym called, wherin he made the Reaumes of Englond and Fraunce amonges other, to be unto hym and to the heires of his body commyng, and to his IIII Sonnes and the heires of thair bodyes commyng, in manere and fourme as it apperith in the same Acte. And yf he myght have obteigned and rejoysed the said Corones &c. by title of enheritaunce, discent or succession, he neither neded ner wold have desired or made thaym to bee graunted to hym in suche wise, as they be by the seid Acte; the which taketh noo place, neyther is of any force or effect ayenst hym that is right enheriter of the said Corones, as it accordeth with Godds lawe, and all naturall lawes, howe it bee that all other Actes and Ordenaunces made in the said Parlement and sithen, been good and suffisant ayenst all other persones.

A. D. 1460. 39 Hen. VI.

16. ITEM, where it is thought that yf the seid Duc shuld make any title or clayme by the lyne of Sr̃ Leonell, he shuld bere the armes of the same Sr̃ Leonell, and not the armes of Edmond Langley late Duke of York:

The seid Duc answereth and saith, that trouth is, that he myght lawfully have born the armes of the said Sr̃ Leonell herebifore, and also the same armes that Kyng Edward the third bare, that is to say, the armes of the Reaumes of Englond and of Fraunce; but he absteyned of beryng of the seid armes, lyke as he absteigned for the tyme, of purposyng and pursuyng of his right and title &c. for causes not unknowen to all this Reaume; for though right for a tyme rest and bee put to silence, yit it roteth not ner shall not perisshe.

17. ITEM, where it is allegged ayenst the title of the said Duc, that the said Herry of Derby, at such tyme as he toke upon hym the Corone of Englond, and that he entred and toke the same Corone upon hym, as right enheriter to Kyng Herry the third, and not as a Conquerour:

The seid Duc therto saith, that such saying of the seid Kyng Herry the fourth, may in noo wise be true, and that the contrary therof, which is trouth, shall be largely ynough shewed, approved and justified, by sufficiant auctorite and matere of record. And over that, that his said saying was oonly to shadowe and colour fraudulently his said unrightwise and violent usurpation, and by that moyen to abuse disceyvably the people stondyng aboute hym.

Ad litteramentum Dominorum.

18. ITEM, the Saturday, the XVII day of this present Parlement, it was shewed unto the Lordes Spirituelx and Temporelx beyng in this present Parlement, by the mouth of the seid Chaunceller, that the seid Duc of York called besily, to have hasty and spedy answere of such maters as touched his title abovesaid; and howe that for asmoche as it is thought by all the Lordes, that the title of the seid Duc can not be defeted, and in eschuyng of the grete inconvenients that may ensue, a meane was founde to save the Kyngs honour and astate, and to apease the seid Duc, yf he wuld; which is this: That the Kyng shall kepe the Corones, and his astate and dignite Roiall, duryng his lyf; and the seid Duc and his heires to succede hym in the same: exhortyng and steryng all the seid Lordes, that yf eny of theym cowde fynde eny other or better meane, that it myght be shewed. Wheruppon, after sad and ripe communication in this matere had, it was concluded and agreed by all the seid Lordes; that sith it was soo, that the title of the seid Duc of York can not be defeted, and in eschuyng the grete inconvenients that myght ensue, to take the mean above rehersed, the Othes that the seid Lordes had made unto the Kynges Highnes at Coventre, and

and other places ſaved, and their conſciences therin clered. And over that, it was agreed by the ſeid Lordes, that the ſeid meane ſhuld be opened and declared to the Kynges Highnes. And forthwith they went towardes the Kyng, where he was in his chambre within his palice of Weſtm'. And in their goyng oute of the Parlement chambre, the ſeid Chaunceller aſked of the ſeid Lordes, that ſith it was ſoo, that the ſeid meane ſhuld be opened by his mouth to the Kyngs good grace, yf they wuld abyde by hym howe ſo ever that the Kyng toke the mater; and all they anſwered and ſeid yee.

All theſe premiſſes thus ſhewed and opened to the Kynges Highnes, he, inſpired with the grace of the Holy Gooſt, and in eſchuyng of effuſion of Criſten blode, by good and ſad deliberation and avyce had with all his Lordes Spirituelx and Temporelx, condeſcended to accord to be made betwene hym and the ſeid Duc, and to be auctorized by th'auctorite of this preſent Parlement. The tenour of which accord hereafter enſueth, in manere and fourme folowyng:

Concordia facta inter Regem & prefatum Ducem.

TO the Kyng oure Soverain Lord; Sheweth unto your moſt noble grace John Nevyll Knyght, and Iſabell his wyf, Doghter and heire to Edmund Yngaldeſthorp Knyght, that late diſceſid, the which Edmund held tyme of his deth of Yowe in chief, divers Maners, Londes and Tenementz; aftre whos deth, Wyrtes of Diem clauſit extremum, was ſeverally directed to Eſchetours of every Shire, wheryn the ſeid Edmund had eny Londes or Tenementz tyme of his deth; uppon divers of which Wyrtes it was founde emong othre, that the ſeid Edmund held tyme of his deth of You in chief: and that the ſeid Iſabell is Doghter and heir to hym, and of the age

Howe be it that women beyng of the age of xiiii yere, tyme of deth of their aunceStres, owe to hase Livere of thare Londes, bi the comun lawe of this youre Roialme; wheryn the seid John and Isabell referres theym to your Jugges: and so were the seid Londes and Tenementz keped in your handes, by the space of two yere and more, aftre the seid xiiii yere, unto the tyme the seid John, and othre sufficiaunt persones with hym, agreaid to be bounden by severall reconisauncez in M l. to oure seid Soverain Lady; uppon which agrement it was promytted by certeyn of the Counseill of the Quene, to the seid John and Isabell, that in case the lawe were ayenst the Quene, that the seid Graunt made unto hir of the seide Warde and Mariage were noght availlable, bi cause the seid Isabell was of xiiii yere of age, at tyme of deth of the seid Edmund, that the Quene wold take no peny of the seid John and Isabell, and that the Quene wold abide the determination of the lawe, as your Justices wold sey whedre the seid Graunt were to hir availlable or no. Whereuppon the seid John Nevill and othre with hym, trustyng to the seid promes, weere bounden in divers reconisauncez in divers sommez, amountyng the somme of M li., to the Quene our Sovereyn Lady, in your Chauncerye of record, bi the names contenid in the same reconisaunce; wherof the tenour herto is annexed: aftre the which reconisauncez so made, the seid John and Isabell, to thare grete costes, effectually labored and desirid dyvers dayes and many of the Chaunceller of Ynglond atte that tyme beyng, to call togidre youre Jugges to make a determynation of the lawe, whethire the seid Graunte made to the Quene, were to hir availlable in the lawe or no; wheryn the seid John and Isabell, no spede ne day could gitte ne hase. De obedientia Regi debit'.

ITEM, after this it was ſaide on the behalfe as before, howe that my ſaide Lordes of the Counſaille undreſtande, that thei have a Kyng whome and noon other thei knowe; and alwey as long as it ſhall lyke to God to graunt hym lyfe, wole and awe to knowe, undre God, for their Soveraine Lorde here upon Erthe. Over this thei undreſtande, that all other that beth in and of this Lande, fro the higheſt unto the loweſt, of whatever eſtate, condition or degree that he be, been his liegemen and his Subgittes, and owen to obeye unto hym and to his Lawes.

ITEM, the ſaid Lordes undreſtande, that howbeit that the Kyng as nowe be of tendre age, nevertheleſſe the ſame auctoritee reſteth and is atte this day in his perſone, that ſhall be in hym at eny tyme hereafter, when he ſhall come, with Goddes Grace, to Yeres of diſcretion.

ITEM, that foraſmuche as the King is nowe of ſuch tendreneſſe of age, that by poſſibilitee of nature he may not in dede Reule ne Governe in his owne perſone, and that God ne reſon wol that this Lande ſtande withouten Governaunce; for ſoemuch the execution of the Kynges ſaid auctoritee, as toward that that belongeth unto the Politique Reule and Governaille of his Lande, and to th'obſervaunce and kepyng of his Lawes, belongeth unto the Lordes Spirituall and Temporell of his Lande, at ſuche tyme as thei be aſſembled in Parlement, or in grete Counſaille; and ellus, hem not being ſo aſſembled, unto the Lordes choſen and named to be of his continuel Counſeill, of the whiche my ſeid Lorde of Bedforde is chiefe, as long as he is in this Lande, and hym not beyng therynne, my Lorde of Glouceſtre yf he be therynne; the which Counſaille, the Kyng beyng in ſuch tendreneſſe of age, repreſent his perſone, as toward execution of the ſame Politique Reule and Governaille of his Lande, and obſervaunce and kepyng of his ſaid Lawes, withouten that eny oo perſone may or owe aſcribe unto hymſelfe the ſeid Reule and Governaille; ſavyng alway unto my ſaid Lord of Bedforde and of Glouceſtre, that that is in eſpeciall reſerved and applied unto hem by Act of Parlement, namely, conſideryng the grete daungers and perills that my ſaid Lord of Bedford hath, as it is beforeſaid, declared, and th'experience of tyme paſſed hath alſo ſhewed, that the ſaid Lordes may for defaulte of the ſeid Reule and Governaille fall in ayenſt the Kyng, and rekenyng that thei may be called unto an other day, the which God ne reſon ne wald that thei ſhulde, o leſſe then thei had fredom of Counſailling, and of the ſaid execution and Reule.

After alle this in this wyſe ſhewed and declared unto my ſeide Lorde of Bedford, it was finally ſaide unto hym, that conſideryng alle theſe thinges aboveſaide, forthwythe the demenyng and governaille of his owen perſone fro the tyme of his commyng into this Lande, the whiche thei had at alle tymes found accordyng unto the ſame, thei truſted fully that he in his noble and wyſe diſcretion, ſelyd in theeſe matiers above lyke as thei did; beſecheyng him as for theire herts eaſe and ſuertee, and for the gode of this Lande, that he woulde voucheſave to declare unto hem his intent therynne, lattyng hym ferther wit that thei, as the Kyngs Counſaille, ſent unto hym to come unto the ſaide Kynges place of Counſaille, to th'entent to open unto hym the matiers aboveſaide.

Reſponſiones ejuſdem Ducis ad Articulos premiſſos &c. cum ſua ſubſcriptione manuali.

The which thynges ſo opened and declared unto my ſeide Lorde of Bedford, it lyked unto his Lordſhip to ſay, that he had wel herde and underſtande the matieres aboveſaide; and that he thanked hem with alle his herte, that hit luſt hem ſo to ſend unto hym, and for that cauſe letyng hem wit, that it was unto hym oon of the greteſt gladneſſe that ever fell to his herte, to ſee the Kyng, ſtandyng in this tendreneſſe of age, to have ſo ſadd, ſo ſubſtantiall and ſo trewe a Counſaille; and after it lyked hym to ſay unto hem, that he knoweth the King for his Soverayne Lorde, and himſelve for his Liegeman and Subgett to hym, and to his Lawes, accordyng to that that was before reherced: Howbeit that God hath by way of Byrth made hym nerrer hym then eny other: and that in alle thynges that belongeth unto the Reule of the Lande, and to th'obſervance and kepyng of the Kynges Lawes, and generally in alle thynges that belongeth unto the Kyng and to his eſtate, he wold be adviſed, demeened and reuled by the Lordes of the Counſaille, and obeye unto the Kyng, and to theym as for the King, as lowly as the leeſte and poureſt Subgett that the King had in his Land.

And yf he eny thyng did or attempted, or were diſpoſed to attempt or do in contrarie therof, he wold att all tymes, with as goode herte and wille, be refourmed and amended by hem, as eny Man ſhuld; knowyng this for his duetee, and that hym oght ſo to do. Over that, offryng hymſelven in alle thynges that by there adviſes ſhall mowe be to the gode of the Kyng, and of his Lande, to aſſiſt hem, and therynne yf nede were to lyf and dye; and to put the ſaide Lordes in more aſſurance and comfort of his full wyll, as to the kepyng and obſervaunce of the thynges aboveſaide, it lyked unto my ſaide Lorde of Bedford, of his free wylle, withouten that eny other perſone ſturred or moeved hym therto, to open the Boke of Evangil' lying in the ſaide Sterred Chambre, and therto ſwere by hem, that he wolde trewely obſerve and kepe the thynges aboveſaide, the whiche he had agreed and promitted.

No 11. Concerning the King's Coronation in France.

Anno Octavo Hen. VI^ti.

Acta apud Cantuarium.

THE xvi day of Averill, the forſaide Yere of the Kyng, at the grete and beſy Prayer and inſtance of my Lorde of Glouceſtre, and the remnant of the Lordes of the Kynges Counſaille, my Lorde the Cardinal graunted to go over into Fraunce with the Kyng, and to abyde there with hym, and to doo the goode that he may, yf ſo be that he fynd at his thider commyng, that the Lordes and Capitaines, and other that goo at this tyme alſo over w^t the Kyng, wol be of goode Reule and Governance, and eſchewe diviſion and takyng parties oon ayenſt another, by diſcention or by ther owen auctoritee; and ellus he proteſted to come home, and report the cauſe of his departyng from thens to the K. Counſaille here.

Qwereupon it was agreed, that a Prive Seal be ſent to the Trẽar and Chamberlains, to paye hym undre ſuche conditions, as were expreſſed in his laſt paiement, when he went for the Kyng to the Duc of Burgoigne; for his intendaunce to the K. Counſaille in Fraunce, M li. a Quarter or leſſe after the rate, or more, for the tyme of his abyding there.

Item, it was accorded and aſſured theire, that for no manner Querell that is, or may be, betwix Lorde and Lorde, or Partie and Partie, no Bendes be taken, ne Ryotes ne gaderyng of people made; but that yf itte happen, that God defende, that enny diſſention or debate fall betwix Lorde and Lorde, the remenant of the Lordes, anoon as y^t diſſention commyth to there heryng or knowleche, ſhall, all other thynges left, labour and entende to the redreſſe and appeſyng of the ſaide diſſention or debate, and that withouten holdyng of partialtee, or more favoir ſhewyng to oone partie thenne other, to ſtond hool, unit and knyt togedres; and the ſeid Lordes bytwix whome peradventeur ſuche diviſion ſhall falle, to be aſſured to ſtande in hiegh and lowe, to the redreſſe and reule of the remenant of the Lordes.

Whereuppon at Canterbury even forthwith, my Lordes Duc of Norfolk, and th'Erles of Huntyngdon and of Warr', emong otheir theire beyng preſent, at th'inſtance of my ſaide Lorde the Cardinal, made aſſurance in the handes of my Lorde of Glouc', that for eny manere diſſention or querell fallen, or to falle, whiche Gode forbede, hereafter betwix hem, or betwix theire Frendes, Kyn or Servantz, either here or in Fraunce, or betwix theym, ther Servauntes, and the Servantes of the Dues of Bedford, or of Bourgoigne, or of ennye other of the Kynges Allies or Subgittes, thei ſhall not take amendes therof, ne punyſhon of the treſpas, as of theire owen hede or auctoritee; but yf thei fynd hem hurt or greved, thei ſhall lette the Kynges Counſaille have knowleche of their gryef, and that of ſuch reſonable redreſſe as the ſeid Counſaille ſhall ordeyne or purveye for heym in the cas, thei ſhall holde hem conſent.

And

And over this, it was appoynted and concluded there, that ſuche matiers as for the well of the Kyng ſhall be paſſed in France by the Counſaillers of Englande about the Kynges perſone, may be holden as paſſed and doon by oone accorde and advis, bothe here and theire; and in lykewyſe to be undreſtanden and holden of matiers to be paſſed by the Counſaillers here, oleſſe thenne the matiers be of ſuche weight, that of neceſſitee thei woll aſken an hool cõication and advis of alle the Kynges Counſaillers, bothe here and theire togiddres, perſonely or by wryting.

Item, it was adviſed and thoght, that as toward the Regencie of France occupied theire by my Lorde of Bedford, that anoon atte the Kynges commyng into his Reaume of France, that name and Office ſhuld ceſſe; and as to the Lordſhips of Alanſon, Anjou and Mayne, and other ſuche as my Lorde of Bedford deſereth of the Kyng yifte, and occupieth in France; it was thoght and adviſed, that he ſhuld occupie hem ſtill: and yf ſo be that peradventure it ſhall lyke hereafter to the K. to reſume the ſaide Lordſhippes and Landes into his handes, and occupie hem, or diſpoſe hem as it ſhall lyke unto hym; that thenne he recompenſyng my ſaide Lorde of Bedford his Uncle with other Lordeſhippes and Landes, into the value of XL M. Francs yerely, may doo in that cas as it ſhall lyke unto hym with the ſaide Lordeſhippes of Alanſon, Anjou and Mayne, and other ſo occupied in Fraunce by my ſaide Lorde of Bedford.

Item, it was there aſſured and accorded, that noon of the grete Officers ne Counſaillers ſworne to the Kynges Counſaille, ſhall be remoeved or chaunged, withouten th'advis and aſſent of bothe the Counſaillers, as wel of hem that be here, as of hem aboute the Kinges perſone in France; ne noon mo added, ne put unto the ſeid Counſaille, withoute the ſame advis and aſſent.

Item, that in Benefices, Offices, and other thynges belongyng to the Kynges yift and diſpoſition, when thei voiden, ſuche as be the Kynges owen Servauntes, or have ſerved his Fadre or Graund Fadre, be preferred unto hem, lyke as it hath be promitted oft and aſſured afore this; ſo that thei have no cauſe to complayne, as it is ſaid thei doo dayly, for lak of Fotheryng.

Item, that when it ſhall be written to the Court by the Kyng, recommendyng enny of his Subgittes to Byſhopryches, that furſt th'advis be had and wyſt of both the Counſaillers, as well there as here, or then eny Lettre paſſe for eny manere perſone either undre the Kynges Prive Seal or his Signet, in eſchewyng of variance in writyng, and other inconvenientes that may enſue of the contrarie.

Howebeit that neither my Lorde of Glouceſtre, ne noon of the Lordes of the Counſeil here, wol, can, ne dar, take upon hem, ne fittith hym to doo, to lymitte the Power nedfull for ſeuretee of the Kynges perſone theire; nevertheleſſe the nombre and power of Men of Armes, and Archiers, ſuch as is in enywyſe poſſible now to be had here atte the charge of this Lande, is appoynted, the which is knowen to the Lordes, and the tyme of there with hodyng and departyng from hens. Reſponſio.

ITEM, that whether oure Soveraine Lord ſhall aſtre his furſte Powaire cõien, yif ſo be that his Powaire comme not at oons, laboure in his perſone towarde his Citee of Rayns, for to take his Corone or noo; conſideryng that yf he might with Goddes Grace obteene his Corone, with the obeiſaunce that he hath of his Citee of Paris, hit were a grete confirmation of obeiſſaunce toward hym, of alle his Subgittes theire.

Hit is not thoght to my ſaide Lorde of Glouceſtre, and Lordes of the Kinges Counſaille, poſſible unto hem, to adviſe here as nowe eny certayne tyme, reul or manere, of the Kynges mooſt behovefull goyng up for his Coronation to his Citee of Reyns; but that it muſt rather dwelle in the diſcretions of my Lordes of Bedford, the Cardinal, and other of his Bloode and of his Counſaille theire, that may knowe and conſidre the circumſtaunces and meens neceſſarie and behovefull thereto; but as ferr furth as my ſaide Lorde of Glouceſtre, and other of the Kynges Counſaille here, can thynk as nowe, it ſeemeth neceſſarie the Towne of Lovers, and the ſaide Citee of Reyns to be had, and proviſion for the ſeure and ſave garde of his Cuntree behinde hym to be maade, before the Kynges goyng up to the ſame Reyns for his Coronation. Reſponſio.

ITEM, yf ſo be that the Duc of Burgoigne, or the Duc of Savoye, or bothe, or eny other, ſend unto the Kyng, offryng hym ſervice yif he wol take the felde and laboure to the acheeivyng of his Corone, ſo that thei nowe knowe the nombre; and that the nombre be lych here Eſtates that thei ſhall ſerve hym with, and atte oure Soverain Lordes deſpens; what anſwere ſhall be yeven unto hem in this cas.

Reſervyng alway and remittyng th'appoyntement and the anſwere of this Article, and alle other that touche the demenyng of the Kynges perſone, to my Lordes of Bedford, of Glouc', the Cardinal, and other of his Blode; it is thoght to other of the Lordes of the Kynges Counſaille here, the ſervice of the Ducs of Burgoigne, of Savoye, or eny other notable perſone behovefull to the Kyng, not to be refuſed or leyde beſyde, but to be hadde in ſuche wyſe, as it ſhall mowe be accorded betwix the Kyng and hem, to the leeſt charge of the Kyng, be it by yifte of Landes or otherwyſe, ſo as it ſhall mowe be borne, and as grete and large ſeurtee to be had of hem as may bee getten, for th'accomplyſſhyng of ſuche ſervice as thei ſhall agree hem to. Reſponſio.

ITEM, it is to knowe what goode ſhall be ſent, or ellus where it may be had, for the kepyng of Men of Armes in the Royaume of Fraunce, to the nombre of VI C ſperes, and howe the paiement ſhall be continued, and for what tyme.

Responsio. My Lorde of Glouceſtre, and the Lordes that abyden here of the Kynges Counſaille, have anſwered by Mouthe to my ſaide Lorde Cardinal, and other that be ordeint to goe over of the Kynges Counſeil, and made hem promeſſe ſuche as withe Goddes Grace ſhall be duely and truely execut with effect.

ITEM, for the Paiement of the Eſtates of the Parlement, of the Chambre of the Accountes, and of other Officers of the Reyaume of Fraunce; conſideryng that of that Lande arryſeth no commoditee to paye hem with.

Responsio. That many and divers Cauſes and Conſiderations, ſuffre not the Paiement remembred in the ſaid Article to be made at the charge of this Lande, but that thei muſt be made of gode, ſuche as may be getten theire by meens ordinarie or extraordinary, as Fines of Perdon, or other ſuche as the Kynges Counſaille theire can beſt fynde or advyſe; moderyng aleway the nombre of the Perſones and Eſtates of the Parlement, and Chambre of Accomptes, and of other Officers, as the neceſſite and ſervice of the Kyng and his obeiſſance for the tyme axeth and requireth.

ITEM, whether oure Soveraigne Lord ſhall ayenſt the ende of the halve Yere retourne ayein into Englande, or abyde ſtille theire.

Responsio. Reſervyng alway and remittyng th'appoyntement and anſwere of this Article &c. yf goode maye not be getten theer nor here, ne of bothe the Landes togiddre, for the holdyng and kepyng of Puiſſance theere, ſuch as nedeth for the ſuertee of the Kynges perſone, that thenne his commyng hidre is neceſſarie to be diſpoſed for ayenſt ſuch tyme as ſhall be thoght expedient to the ſeide Lordes of his Blode, and of his Counſeil theire; the whiche havyng knowleche of goode, ſuche as may be had here, and alſo there, ſhall mowe certifye hidre ther adviſes and ententes as toward the ſaide Kyng's commyng home, and howe and whenne, and of proviſion neceſſarie to be made or had therfore.

ITEM, yf he ſhall retourne ayein, w^t ordenance ſhal be made for kepyng of that Lande behynd hym.

ITEM, yf my Lorde of Bedford wol not abyde behynde the Kyng, what Eſtate ſhall abyde theire for the Governaunce of that Lande, and what Auctoritee and Poaire he ſhall have; and yf my Lord of Bedford wol abyde, what Auctoritee and Poaire ſhal he have, conſideryng that as into this tyme he wol no Commiſſion take.

Responsio. That in cas of advis and appoyntement taken of the Kynges retourne hidre ayein, it is thoght that the Kyng muſt leeve a ſufficient Lieutenant behynd hym, for the Governaunce and Reule of that Lande, havyng ſuche Auctoritee, and alſo Counſeille appoynted, as ſhall be thoght neceſſarie and behovefull for the goode Governaille therof; the whiche for many notorye and evident reſons and cauſes, muſt furſte be offred to my Lorde of Bedford, he to be ſturred and entreted therto by alle wayes and meens reſonable; and yf he wol not entende thereto, that then ſome other notable Lorde and Capitaine to be entreted to the ſame. It alwey purveyed and ſeen, that as fer furth as it ſhall mowe be doon, Juſtice be ſet up and ſtabliſhed theire, and proviſion for the continuance therof, before the Kynges departyng; and that alſo it be ordeynt for the defenſe, ſeure and ſave garde of the ſaide Lande, and for Puiſſance of Men, as fer furth as it can or may be adviſed and borne neceſſarie for the ſame.

ITEM, yf the Cardinal Seint Croſs come for to trete Pees or Trieues, to what manere fourme of Trieues ſhall be condeſcended; for as of Pees it ſeemeth there ne may noon be concluded, conſideryng the tenderneſſe of the Kynges Eage.

ITEM, conſideryng that the nature of the leſt Pees wol, that no Partie ſhall inire tractatum Pacis ſine conſenſu trium ſtatuum utriuſq; Regni, and that th'Eſtates of Fraunce wol not condeſcende to no traitee of Trieues, but oonlych to traitee of Pees, what ſhall be doon in this cas.

Responsio. In cas the Cardinall of Seint Croix, or other, come downe to trete the Pees, it is thoght that his commynge to the ſaide entente, and his generalle exhortation to the ſame, muſt agreably be received and commended, and entended unto as by way of communyng and of heryng; and that conſideryng that in this tendre age of the Kynge, a Pees may not ſeurely be appoynted ne concluded for his partie, yf a goode and reſonable Trues be deſired, ſturred and offred, it is thoght that it ſhulde be entended unto; namely, oleſſe thenne before that Men can ſee weyes and the meenes poſſible and likely, of ferther conduyt of the Werre to the Kynges availe and behove.

ITEM, foraſmuche as hit appiereth wel that this Reaume may noght bere the Charges of a continuelle Werre, whether for countenuance of the Werre there, yif noon other reſonable meene of reſte may be had, hit ſeme nought behovefull the Kyng for to yeve the Landes and Places that Men mowe gete, to ſuche as mowen gete hem; and thei, yif eny ſuche may be founden, to make the Werre withoute charge of this Lande, as ferre as it may be eſchueid.

Responsio. Hit is thoght to my Lorde of Glouceſtre, to whooſe advis the remennant of the Counſell agree hem, that conſideryng that it is not poſſible, as ferre forth as Men can ſee, the Werre in the Royaume of France to be conduit at th'expenſes and charge of this Reaume here, ne of the Kyngs obeiſſaunce there; that, to th'entente of kepyng of the K. obeiſſaunce there nowe, and getyng of the remenant, it is expedient to graunt, that his Subgittes that ſhall gete at there oune charge and laboure, Places and Landes occupied by the Kynges Rebelles, ſhal have hem and rejoyſe hem as there oune; hit alwey provided, that yf it may be thoght that Men wol ſo labour to the Conqueſte, that thei ſo gete eny Places or Landes, for the whiche it ſhall lyke the K. to recompenſe hem in other Places or Landes within the Kinges obeiſſaunce of eagal value, hit ſhall be levefull the K. ſo to doo; and thei in that caſe bounden to receyve the recompenſation, and to leve to the Kynges wille the ſaid Places ſo getten by hem; finally nevertheleſſe remittynge the appointment and reule hereof to my Lordes of Bedford, the Cardinall, and other of the Kynges Blode there.

ITEM, foraſmuche as there is grete multitude of Walled Townes and Caſtelx in Normandie and in France, as well of the Kynges as of other Menns, and the kepyng of ſo many is grete charge to the Londe, and oppreſſion to the People, hit ſemeth neceſſaire to be adviſed wch ſhall be kept, and which ſhall be diſempared, as wel of the Kynges as of other Mens; for thogh other Menties Fortreſſes be not kepte at the Kynges charge, yit thei lyve upon the poevere people, and yif thei were taken with the Enemyes, thei ſhulde be cauſe of diſtruction of the Kynges Contree.

Responsio. Hit is well agreed here, that Fortreſſes and Places be diſſempared, ſuche as ſhall be thoght to the Kyng, by th'advis of his Counſaille there, unbehovefull, perilous or harmefull to be kept or to ſtande.

ITEM, whether the Kynge ſhall drawe up to Parys or noo, for eny requeſt or deſire that thei of Parys couthe make.

Reſponſio. As in ſubſtance ſemblable to th'anſwere yeven to the furſte partie of the thridde Article, addyng therto that in cas that God lyke to diſpoſe the Kynges goyng up to Reyns, it is thoght expedient that he take his way thiderward by his Toune of Parys, yf noon other cauſe or occaſion let it, ſuche as may not be foreſeen nor knowen here as at this tyme.

MY right doubted and Soverain Lorde, lyke it youre Hieghnesse to be remembred, how that not long agoo, for dyscharge of my selven as towarde any defaulte or blame that by any suggestion or information, suche as y ne have yeve matere ne cause to, myghte to the hurt of my name or fame, or withdraught of your gracious benevolence and favour, without my desert, be layede upon me, touchyng my demenyng in the governance of youre Reaume of Fraunce, I declared myselff and my demenyng in youre saide Reaume of France, by a writeyng departed into certaine Articles; the whiche wryting with all humblesse y presented to youre Hieghnesse. In the whiche, for declaration of the conduyt of the Were in youre saide Reaume for the tyme of youre noble Regne, hit is contened and is soche, that after the decesse of my Lorde youre Fadre, to whoos Soule God doo mercy, by the Grace of God, and by the gode labour and diligence of youre trewe Men and Servants there, and me oon of hem, wyllyng to doo the goode that I coude, divers great and faire dayes and victories were had there for you and in your querrell upon your enemys, and your obeissance theire notably enlargissed and encresed, and brought thereto greet partie of Boye, Champaigne, Aũcerroys, Doũziont, Nyvernoys, Maconnoys, Anjou, Maine; and alle thing there prospered for you, till the tyme of the Siege of Orleans, taken in hand God knoweth by what advis. At the whiche tyme, after the adventure fallen to the persone of my Cousin of Salysbury, whome God assoyle, there felle by the hand of God as it semeth, a greet strook upon youre peuple that was assembled there in greet nombre, caused in grete partie as y trowe, of lakke of sadde beleve, and of unlevefull doubte that thei hadde of a disciple and lyme of the seende called the Pucelle, that used fals enchauntements and sorcerie; the which strook and discomfiture, nought oonly lessed in grete partie the nombre of your peuple there, but as well withdrewe the courage of the remenent in merveillous wyse, and couraged your adverse partie and ennemys to assemble hem forthwith in grete nombre, to the which divers of youre greete Citees and Townes, as Reyns, Troyes, Chalons, Laon, Sens, Provins, Senlis, Laigny, Creyl, Beauvais, and the substaunce of the Countres of Champaigne, Brye, Beauvoisin, and also a partie of Picardie, yolde here withoute resistence, or abode of socours; howe were it that incontinent after the saide discomfiture of Orleans, I doubtyng of theire discourages, sent to thame divers your Conseillers of the same Cuntrees, offryng hem garnison of Men and Socours. And over this with thoo that were left me of youre peuple, forthwith the refresshyng of the retenue that myne Oncle the Cardinal had made for the Chirche, the whiche was notable, and cam thider in full goode seison, sette and kept my selff o yee feelde divers days ayens youre ennemys, that purposed to have geten the remenaunt of the Cuntree. I redy there to have employed my persone in youre querell, and to the sauvacion of youre Lande, and of youre trewe Subgetts there, and didde therto the goode that y coude, so that with Godds grace, it shal not be founden, that ye have lost in my defaulte the said Citees, Townes or Cuntrees; the losse and departyng of the whiche, and the neghing and dayly prees of the Werre therby to youre gode Toune of Parys, and to the remenant of your Cuntree of France, youre Subgitts of the same neither myght tille theire Lands, ne theire Viegnes, nor occupie hem with bestaille, ner otherwyse, ner ynneto hemselfe, ner outter any kyns of Merchaundises, hath dryven hem to an extreme povtee, suche as thei may not long abyde; as it is not unknowen unto youre Counseil that was with

yowe but late agoo in youre faide Reaume; and cauſeth em that with all her hertes deſire to kepe her trouthes and obeiſſance unto you, to aſke of yowe for non power of thayme ſelfe more chargeable and abydyng ſocours than ever thay didde before, and made me, with other of your Counſaille of youre Reaume of Fraunce, to aſſemble at Caleys, with my Brother and other Lordes of youre Counſaille of this Lande; and for lakke of Comfort there emonges other cauſes that moeved me, I cam into this youre Reaume, to ſhewe this unto youre Hieghneſſe, to th'entent of proviſion to be hadde therupon, ſuche as it ſhulde lyke you by th'advis of youre Counſeil here to ordein. So that y, in whoos commyng hidre and labour here towardes youre Hieghneſſe thay have ſette the hope and truſt of thaire reliefe and comfort, ſhuld moue at my commyng thidre, playnely reporte unto hem the proviſion ordeuned for thayme, and aſſure hem thereof; the whiche yf it be not ſoo doon, thay ſhal bee diſpeired, and take occaſion every man to purveye for himſelf, in the beſt wyſe that God wol yeve him grace. And howebeit that y have made therfore the inſtance that y coude, as wel in youre ſaide Parlement, as in youre greet Counſeil, and plainely for myne acquitaille, and diſcharge of my blame or defaulte, declared the notoire jupardie of loſt of youre ſaid Cuntre, unleſſe thanne hit bee ſubſtantially pourveyed fore before my departyng: Nevertheles, as fer forth as y know, the moens therof have nought as yit be founde, to my full grete hevyneſſe, God knoweth. And forſomuche y conſideryng that it hath lyked God to preferre me afore all other yit born, as in nieghneſſe to youre Hieghneſſe, and that nature byndeth me therfore, namely with the gode and gracious Lordeſhipp that y finde in you, ſemblably to neighe you by wey of alle trewe affeccion and deſir of ſervice, ſuche as y may bere, and doo to an erthely Man, as I ſo doo God I calle to witeneſſe; the whiche affeccon muſt lede me to tendre with alle my poſſibilitee, all that may bee to the worſhip and wele of youre Hieghneſs; and with this alſo howe greete a pitee it were that that noble Reaume, for getyng and kepyng of whiche my Lorde that was youre Fadre, to whoſe Soule God doe mercy, and other many noble Princes, Lordes, Knightes and Squiers, and other perſones in full greet nombre, have payed hir lyves, many that been yit on lyve have ſhedde thaire blode, more precious to hem thanne eny temporel gode, and ſpended thaire dayes, and thaire noble and trewe labours; and as well thai, as in general the Commune of this Lande, have alſo ſpended an infinite goode: And over this, the continuance of myne abode in your ſervice there, fro the begynnyng of youre Regne till nowe, to th'entent to doo my trewe power, as y have doo God knoweth, to the kepyng therof to youre behove, to the tyme that yt ſhall like oure Lorde to bryng you to Yeres, in the whiche it ſhal lyke youre Hieghneſſe to gouverne it in your perſone; for the whiche tyme of myne abode, I have founde the multitude of youre Subgitts there, as well diſpoſed and as deſirous to kepe thaire faith and trouthe to youre Hieghneſſe as ever was peuple, and to me as lovyng and as kinde; ſo that the loſt of your ſaid Cuntree and Subgetts, that God ne wol, ſhulde cauſe me a perpetuel herts hevyneſſe and ſorrow; and alſo the grete and the tendre love and affeccion that I have founde in youre Subgetts of this Lande, in every degree and eſtat, at alle tymes, and in eſpecial ſith my laſt comyng thertoo, and ſo I truſt alwayes to fynd, the which ſtandeth not in ſoo greet wele and plantee of goode as I have ſeen hem doo before this tyme, and as I wolde with all my hert for the goode of you and of thame that thay didde, whoſe eaſe therfore and diſcharge as towardes berdon in theire good I deſire, and ſhal deſire in all that I goodely can and may; therefore to ſhewe the unfayned tenderneſſe and love yt I bere to the wele and proſperitee of you, and of bothe youre Reaumes, I ſhall make to youre Hieghneſſe an offre in a certaine manere and forme, and therewith yeve you, undre youre noble correccion, certain adviſes poſſible as me thenke withouten grete difficultee to be executed, greetly ſervyng to the proviſion nedeful for youre ſaide Royaume of Fraunce, and to eaſe of the peuple of this youre Reaume.

In ſhewyng and declaration of the whiche, pleaſe it youre Hieghneſſe to have knowlache, howe that yt liked my Lorde youre Fadre, whom God aſſoille, a notable tyme before his deceſſe, to make a feffement of a grete and notable partie of the Duchie of Lancaſtre, and of other Landes, to myne Oncle the Cardinal, and other certaine perſones, to th'entent that of the Revenues that ſhulde growe therof after his deceſſe, thei ſhulde fulfille his ordonnance and wille, to be declared unto hem in that behalve; the which ſo doon, thayme oweth by the ſame wille, to make to youre Hieghneſſe eſtat of the ſaide partie of the Duchie, and other Landes; the whiche Wil of my ſaide Lorde youre Fadre, as towards the charges to bee executed of the forſaide Revenues, is nere hande fulfilled as I am lerned; ſo that and it lyke my ſaide Oncle and Feffees, upon goode and ſeure proviſion to be made to thayme, for execution of the reſte of the ſaide Wille nought yit fulfilled, to make you deliverance of the ſaide feffement, the yerely Revenue therof, and of that partie of the Duchie that is nowe in youre hande, applyed hooly to the defence of youre Reaume of Fraunce, forthwith that that may growe of abateyng of inutile and voluntarie charges that the ſaid parties of the Duchie bere at this day, ſhal with litel more mowe ſuffice to the paiement of cc Speres and the Bowes a Yere.

Over this I remembre me, how that in youre laſt Parlement, it liked youre Hieghneſs, by th'advis of III Eſtates of this Lande, to wille me to diſpoſe me to dwelle and entend to youre Counſeil in this Lande, as fer forth as y godely myght, with the wele of youre Landes and Lordeſhipps outewards; to the whiche, and to alle youre goode pleſirs and commandements, it was, is, and ever ſhall bee, myne entente to obeye you, and to doo you in bothe youre Reaumes alle the ſervice that I can and may, namely in your tendre age, and whiles I may ſomewhat beſturr me, ever truſtyng that yt ſhall lyke youre Lordſhip hereafter to knowe it, and conſidre it, and to have me the more tendrely recommended to youre goode grace, at ſuche tyme hereafter as I ſhall not ſoo wel mowe doo you ſervice as I may nowe, the whiche my deſire of doyng of ſervice to youre Hieghneſs, cauſeth me the more ſtudiouſly to ſeeke the wayes and meens by the whiche I ſhall mowe ſoo doo, to the leeſt charge of you and of youre Subgitts of bothe youre Reaumes; emonges the whiche wayes over that oon that y have reherced before, oon other is this.

Soche is, that for execution of youre ſaide deſire and myne, it ſhal nede me at divers tymes to goo into your Reaume of Fraunce, and to retourne ayein into this youre Reaume, whenne and as the cas of youre behove ſhal require it; and that paradventure it ne ſhal not bee at alle tymes youre eaſe, whenne it ſhal nede me ſo to goo or come, to ordeine me therfore ſuche a feliſhip out of this Lande, as me ſhal nede to be accompaigned of, for ſeuretee of my perſone: In eſchuyng of the whyche charge, and yit in fortheryng of the defenſe of your Reaume of Fraunce, it may thus be purveyed yif it lyke you. Withoute youre Towne and Caſtel of Calays, for the whyche I have nowe endented, there bee in youre Marchies of Caleys divers other places of youres, and in eche of hem a reſonable nombre of Souldeours, of the whyche yf I had the kepyng and the rule, I coude, myghte and wolde, ſette therynne for the governance of hem undrenetheme, perſones notables, ſuche as be expert in the Werre, and as I knowe wele may and can rule ſuche a feliſhip as ſhulde be committed to hem in the places. The whiche or ſome of hem, as wel as other that I ſhall ſette undre me in youre ſaide Towne and Caſtel of Caleys, with ſuche parte of the Souldeours of youre ſaide Towne and Marchies, as by my diſcrecon ſhall mowe for the tyme be ſpaired, ſhall, ſo yt gode paiement bee made hem, mowe be ready at my warnyng and commandement, nought oonly to accompaignie me goyng into youre ſaide Countree of Fraunce, or retournyng, but alſo to be ſent into youre Reaume of Fraunce or Duchie of Normande, in cas of a ſodaine neceſſite or behove, and doo you redy ſervice in other divers manere of wyſes: the whiche youre Marchies and places I offre me therfore to take the Governance of, to no gretter charge to you for the tyme of Pees, but atte the ſame that they be atte this day; rebateyng in the wages therof, for the proufitz and commoditees that growe to you of the ſaide Marchies, as muche as ye bee anſwered of at this day; Savyng and reſervyng alway to my Brother of Glouceſtre, the termes that he hath by youre Lres Patentes in your Caſtel and Lordeſhip of Guynes.

Over this, I remembre me howe that at the tyme of youre beyng in your Reaume of Fraunce, it lyked you of youre gode grace more thanne for my deſert, for ſupportation of myne eſtate and charges, to graunte me by youre Lres Patentes, greete and notable ſommes, to be paied me yerely of the Revenues of youre Duchie of Normandie, in the wyſe as youre ſaide Lres purporte: the whyche ſommes, I conſideryng the grete neceſſitee of both your Royaumes, nought deptyng from the benefite or right that y have by youre ſaide Lres Patentes, offre with goode wille and agree me, to bee converted and emploied to the defenſe and kepyng of youre ſaide Reaume of Fraunce, frome Michaelmaſſe next commyng for the terme of II yere, by the wayes and meens to be practiſſed by ſuche of youre Counſeil as it ſhal lyke you to appoynte therto; ſo alwayes that the ſaide other II wayes and meens before opened by me, be furſte paſſed and agreed unto, and put in effectuelle execucon; by the whiche wayes and meens, and my preſent offre deuely executed, I truſt to God that your ſaid Royaume of Fraunce ſhal for the tyme mowe be releved of IIII c. Speres and the Bowes Yerely; half by the meene of this Lande as is above reherced, and the tother half by the meene of this my preſent offre: In ſuche wyſe that hit ſhal not gretely charge youre Subgitts of this Reaume. So that it like oure Lord to kepe youre peuple there from ſodaine adventure; the whiche reſteth oonly in his handes.

The VIIII day of Juyn, the yere of the Kyng oure Soveraign Lorde the XII^e. To the furſte Article of advertiſement and advis withynne written, after long replication made by my Lordes the Cardinal of Canterbury and the Lord Hungerford, enfeoffez &c.

Finalli, thei deſired to be adviſed and to give here anſwere on the morwe in the mattiere withynne written. And ſoe, the XV^e day of the ſeide Moneth, it was aſked by my ſeid Lord Cardinal, in the name of hym and of the Feoffees, whether the Kyng and the Lordes there preſent, coude thinke that the forſeid Feoffees, myght with trewe conſcience and here wordely worſhippes, leeve theire eſtate; conſideryng that the Kynges prayers and deſires, whos ſoule God reſte, ne be not yit perfourmed. To the whiche queſtion the Lordes there preſent anſwered alle as of oon accord: That if ſo were, that ſeuretee were made by the Kyng that now is to the ſeid Feoffees, of ſufficeant aſſignementz, ſuche as thei wolde reſonably accorde unto, for the fullfillyng and performyng of the Kyng' Chanterie, and paiement of his dettes, it was thoght unto hem, that the ſaid Feoffes myght with conſcience, and worſhip unhurt, for ſo grete a gode to the Kyng as this is, conforme hem to th'advis and deſire of my ſeid Lord of Bedford. The whiche advis of the Lordes, the ſeid Feoffees deſired for to been enacted of Record.

And ſo fynally, for the wele of the Kyng, comfort of the Reaume of Fraunce, and more deſcharge of the povere people of this Lande, the ſeid Feoffees, as thei that wolden that there demeenyng in the ſeid Feoffment were knowen and open to alle the world, deſired that by the Kyng, certain Lordes of his Counſeil be deputt to ſee the Bokes of Recept, and of th'adminiſtracon of the Revenues of the Landes of the Feoffament in al godely haſte, and therupon to make reporte in the next Parlement how that thei finde: And if ſo be that it appiere, that ſuche good as hath be reiſed of the Landes of the ſeid Feoffament, have be wel and trewely employed in diſcharge of the ſoule of the Kyng that is deceded, whiche ſoule God reſte, and in perfourmyng of his deſires, and nought to theire uſe nor profit; thanne that in the ſame Parlement, and by auctoritee therof, her ſeid demenyng of the ſeid Revenues of the Feoffament be declared as for good and vaillable; and thei, here heires and executours, to be deſcharged ayenſt the Kyng and his heires for evermore, as for eny thyng that may touche the foreſeid Feoffament, or any thyng dependent of the ſame. And ſo the ſeid Feoffes wol and graunte, that with that that thei be ſufficeantly paied and content of th'aſſignementz that been to hem maad, for monoye borwed of theim of the ſeid Feoffament, that the Kyng have and rejoiſe the Revenues that ſhal growe of the ſeid Feoffament after Mighelmaſſe day next comyng, by the handes of th'Officers and Deputees of the ſeid Feoffees: So that proclamacon ſhal be made betwix this and the next Parlement, that every man that wol aſk dette for Houſhold, Ghambre, Warderobe, the Kynges Werkes, or for Moneye borwed, bringe in to the ſeide Feoffees the groundes that thei aſket by. And if it may appiere that the ſommes of th'aſſignementz, ne of the Revenues of this yere, ne wol not ſuffiſe for paiement of the Kings dettes afore reherced, and for perfourmyng of his Chaunterie, and of his Toumbe; thanne the Kyng to make to the ſeid Feoffees for the reeſt that ſhall be founde due, ſuche aſſignement and agreement as the ſeid Feoffees wol be content with. And if ſo bee that the ſomme of th'aſſignementz made to the ſaid Feoffees, and the Revenues of this yere, wol amounte to gretter ſomme thenne the ſomme of the dettes and makyng of the ſaid Chaunterie and Toumbe, thenne the reſidue to be paied up to the Kyng, and to be applied to ſuche uſe as my Lord of Bedford hath deſired. The whiche thinges doon, my ſeid Lordes Cardinal Archebiſhopp, Lord Hungerford, and the remenant of the Feoffees, wol make eſtat of all the Landes that thei ſtand feoffed ynne by the Kyng the Fadre, unto oure Soveraigne Lord that nowe is; that is to ſey, of that that is of Fee taille, in Fee taille, and of that that is of Fee ſimple, in Fee ſimple. The ſeid my Lordes of the Feoffament makyng proteſtacon, that if it ſo bee that that matiere that is opened by my ſeid Lord of Bedford for the fyndyng of cc Speres in Fraunce at the charge of France, take effect, after the fourme of his offre, this thaire aſſent and grante for to ſtande in ſtrengthe, and ellus to be as voide and of noe valeure.

To the ſeconde Article conteined in the ſeide Bill of Avertiſementz of my Lord of Bedford, concernyng the endentyng with the Kyng for the places in the Marchies of Picardie &c.

It is grannted and paſſed by the Kyng and his Counſeil, in wiſe as it is contened in certaine Endentures maad betwix the Kyng and my ſeid Lord of Bedford upon the ſame.

And as to the thirdde Article, the Kyng and all my Lordes of his Conſeil thanken my ſeid Lord of Bedford entierely with alle theire hertis, of his lovyng and gentil offre; and praien hym that th'effect of the ſeid Article may be put in execucon, in all the haſte that it may be godely for the wele of the Kyng, and to th'entent expreſſed in the ſame.

The xv^th day enſuyng, it was accorded by the ſeid Lordes of the Counſeil, that like as my forſeid Lordes then Feoffees, have at th'inſtance of my Lord of Bedford graunted unto the Kyng that nowe is, the Revenues of the Landes that thei ſtande enfeoffed in, from Michelmeſſe next comyng, unto a certaine oeps, and undre certain condicons above expreſſed; that for the wele of the Kyng, and to the ſame oeps expreſſed in the Act before written, alle the Revenues of the remenant of the ſeid Duchie, beyng at this day in the Kynges handes, except the charges neceſſaire, be emploied and expended, and to noon other oeps; accordyng to th'entent withynne writen of my ſeid Lord of Bedford.

it ſhuld be expedient to hym as yit change the rule and governance that afore this in his tendre eage hath by his grete Counſeil in Parlement, and ellus, be adviſed and appointed for the goode and ſeuretee of his noble perſone and of this Lande. And for ſoe muche thei with al humbleſſe beſeche the Kyng, that yf any ſuche ſturynges or mocions be maad to hym aparte, in thynges of greet weight and ſubſtance, and in eſpecial ſuche as may touche his noble perſone and eſtate, or changyng of the forſeid reule, the whiche, as thei truſte to God, ſhall be founde that hath be to the Kyng right profitable and behovefull, that it lyke to the Kyng noght lightly to agree him or aſſent therto; but that til be communicacon, and be heryng, ſeying and experience, he be ferther growen and encreſced in felyng and knowleche of that that belongeth to gode reule and governaile, and of forſight, ſuche as is nedeful to departe and cheſe that that is behoveful to hym, and to his Lande, fro the contraire; to the whiche knowleche and felyng with Gods grace he is like to reche as ſone as any it is poſſible by nature, and as it hath be ſeen in any perſone afore this tyme; it like, if any ſuche mocion be maad to hym, before then he agree him, or aſſente to any ſuche mocion or ſturyng, to take therupon th'advis of his grete Counſeil, or his continuel Counſeil for the tyme beyng, in the wiſe as hit hath liked hym to doo but late agoo; the whiche manere of his demenyng, as it is trowed and thoght to his ſeid beſechers, ſhall be oon of the gretteſt ſeuretee that can be adviſed, to the wele and proſperitee of his noble eſtate, and all his Landes and Subgitts.

REX, Omnib' ad quos &c. Salt̃m. Inſpeximus quandam Petic̃oem, & Cedulam eidem Petic̃oi annexam, Nob' in p̃ſenti Parliamento ñro apud Weſtm', Nono die Julii, Anno regni ñri triceſimo tercio tento, p̱ C̃oitatem regni ñri Angl' in eodem Parliamento exiſten', ex parte Willi Oldhall Militis exhibitas, & in filaciis Cancellar' ñre reſident', cujus quidem Petic̃ois tenor ſequitur, in hec verba. To the right wiſe and diſcrete Comons in this p̃ſent Parlement aſſembled, humbly beſechith William Oldhall Knyght. That where he alle the daies of his lif, hath been trewe faithfull Liegeman to the Kyng oure So̅vain Lorde, and to the moſt Criſten noble Prynces, his Fader and Aiell of bleſſed memoire, whom God pardon, and hath diſpended his yong daies in the s̃vice of theym, and of othir Princes of theire blode, with all trewe labour and diligence to him poſſible, as wele in the Realme of Fraunce, as in the Duchies of Normandie and Gyen, and othir places. He entendyng in his old age to ſerve God, and to lyve upon ſuche povere lyvelode and goodes, as he had of his enheritaunce, and by his long contynued labour; certeyn undiſpoſed p̱ſones, ymaginyng utterly to diſtroye him, and by ſubtill untrewe meanes, to have of the graunte of oure ſaid So̅vain Lorde his londes and godes, cauſed him by their malicious labour, ayenſt alle right, trouthe and conſcience, to be declared and reputed traytour to our ſaid So̅vain Lorde, by an Acte made in the laſt Parlement, com̃enſed at Redyng the vi^th day of Marche, the xxxi^th yere of his mooſt bleſſed reigne, the tenure wherof herto is annexed; by whiche Acte it is ſuppoſed your ſaid Beſecher to have yeven fals untrewe Counſaill unto the grete traytours John Cade and John Wilkyns, and to oon John Halton, wherof he was never giltie, ne the ſaid p̱ſones never knewe, ne with theym had c̃oication, as God knoweth. And where your ſaid Beſecher, by the untrewe ſynfull p̱curyng of the ſaid undiſpoſed p̱ſones, grete manaſſes and dredefull langage yeven to xii men, was endited of Treaſon and theruppon outlawed; the ſaid outelawry is re̅vſed atte the ſuyte of your ſaid Beſecher, and he of the ſame Treaſon acquytte, by the othes of xii notable ſufficient p̱ſones, before the Kyng in his Benche, as it there apperith of recorde. Pleaſe it your grete wiſedomes tenderly to conſider the p̃miſſes, and theruppon to pray the Kyng our So̅vain Lorde, that hit pleaſe his Highneſſe to ordeyn, graunte and eſtabliſhe, by th'avice and aſſent of the Lordes Spirituelx and Temporelx in this p̃ſent Parlement aſſembled, and by auctorite of the ſame Parlement, that the ſaid Acte made in the ſaid laſt Parlement com̃enſed at Redyng, be caſſed, adnulled, irrite, voide, and had for nought for evermore. And that your ſaid Beſecher, be reſtored to his name, fame, and worſhip, ſuche as he had before the ſaid Acte made, and be declared, had, accepted and reputed, the Kynges trewe Liegeman. And he and all his heires, be abled to enjoye and enherite al maner Londes, Teñtes, Rentes, Reverſions, Services, Enheritaunces, and all othir thynges and poſſeſſions, in like wyſe and fourme, as they and everyche of them were or ſhuld have been enherite or enheritable, if the ſeid Acte made in the ſaid laſt Parlement had never be. And to ſue, plede, and be pleded in al maner accions, as wele reals, p̱ſonels, mixtes, and all other maner accions and ſuytes, in alle the Kynges Courtes, and in all othir Courtes and places. And that the ſaid William, and every othir p̱ſone or p̱ſones havyng eny eſtate in eny Maners, Londes, Teñtes, Rentes, Reverſions, Services, Knyghtes Fees, Avowſons of Churches or Chapelles, Vieus of Francplegg', Letys, Courtes, Hundredes, Fraunchiſes, Libertees, or eny othir maner poſſeſſions or enheritaunces to his uſe, the ſaid vi^th day of Marche, and the heires of them and ev̅yche of them, be reſtored to their poſſeſſion, title, enheritaunce and intereſſe in the ſame, ſuche as they had in the ſame or in eny parcell therof, the ſaid vi^th day of Marche, or eny tyme ſeth. And that they and everyche of them, may frely entre, have and enjoye the ſame, withoute eny othir ſuyte to be made therefore in eny wyſe, in ſuche maner, fourme, eſtate, poſſeſſion, title and enheritaunce, as they had theryn the ſaid vi^th day of Marche, or eny tyme ſeth. And that your ſaid Beſecher, be reſtored to all his Godes and Catelles whiche he loſt or was put from eny wyſe, by reaſon or colour of the ſame Acte; and that he be abled and entitled in the lawe, to ſue all maner accions, ſuytes and execucions, upon all maner obligacions, reconyſaunces, and all othir contractes and matiers, in alle ſuche fourme, maner and wiſe, as he myght have had if never ſuche Acte had be made. Provided alweys, that no maner p̱ſone, havyng eny acquytaunce, releſſe or othir diſcharge of eny ſuche dette, duetee or reconyſaunce, contracte, or othir matier of the ſaid William, the ſaid vi^th day of Marche, be not voided nor adnulled by reaſon of this Acte. Provided alſo, that no maner of Eſchetours, nor eny othir of the Kynges Myniſtres and Officers, whiche by reaſon of the ſeid Acte have ſeiſed or taken eny Godes or Catalles, that were to your ſeid Beſecher tyme of the ſeid Acte made, or eny tyme ſeth, or ſeaſed his Londes or Teñtes by reaſon therof, and therof duely anſwered the Kyng, be in eny wiſe hurte, prejudiſed, or in eny wiſe to your ſaid Beſecher charged by reaſon of this Acte. Provided alſo, that no maner p̱ſone havyng eny maner laufull effectuell graunte of eny of the ſeid Maners, Londes, Teñtes, or eny othir of the p̃miſſes, by the Kynges Lr̃es Patentes, be not to your ſeid Beſecher chargeable of the iſſues or p̱fites taken or receyved of the ſame Maners, Londes, Teñtes, or othir p̃miſſes, in eny wiſe. Provided alſo, that noo p̱ſone nor p̱ſones, whiche have bargayned with your ſeid Beſecher, or with eny othir man for him by his com̃aundement, of eny Maners, Londes or Teñtes, or othir poſſeſſions aforeſaid, and have made eny payment or othir contentyng, to him or eny othir man by his comaundement, accordyng to the maner, fourme and makyng of eny ſuche bargaine, and have eſtate made to them by your ſaid Beſecher, or by eny othir man beyng enfeoffed in eny of the ſeid Londes or Teñtes to his uſe, be hurt or Savyng to all the Kynges Lieges, theire title, right and intereſſe, whiche they had in the ſaid Maners, Londes, Teñtes, Rentes, Reverſions, Services, Knyghtes Fees, Avouſons of Churches or Chapelles, Vieus of Francplegg', Letys, Courtes, Hundredes, Fraunchiſes, Libertees, or eny othir maner poſſeſſions or enheritaunces aforeſaid, ſuche as they had in the ſame or in eny parcell therof, the ſaid VI^th^ day of Marche, othir than grewe or coñenſed by reaſon or vertu of the ſame Acte, or by the Kynges Lres Patentes made after the ſaid VI^th^ day of Marche.—Inſpeximus eciam quandam Reſponſionem eidem Peticoi p Nos, de aviſamento & aſſenſu Dominor' Sp̃ualium & Temporalium in dco Parliamento exiſten', ac ad requiſicoem Coitatis predce, necnon auctoritate ejuſdem Parliamenti fcam, & in dorſo dce Peticois inſertam, in hec verba. And the ſeid John Conyers and Margerie, beyng ſeiſed of the ſeid Maners in the forme aforeſeid, made a yift and graunt by oon other dede endented, of that other halfendele of the ſeid Maners, with the appurtenaunces, to the ſeid Thomas, to have to hym and to his Heires, yeldyng therof yerely to theym, and to the Heires of the ſeid Margerie, at the ſeid feſtes XL Marc, with lyke clauſe of reentre reſerved to the ſame John and Margerie, and to hir Heires, yf it happen that rent in parte or in all, to be behynde by XIIII Monethes after eny day of payment therof. 17. PRAYEN the Cõens in this preſent Parlement; that where in the tyme of auncien proſperitee of the Reame of Englond, whan the fame of renomme of the honour and pollicie therof reched into all Criſten Londes, ſechyng and deſiryng the Commodite therof; the makyng of Cloth of the Wolles of the growyng of the ſeid Reame, and the ordre and conveyaunce therof, in the labour of every man and woman required to the ſeid makyng, was of ſuch trouth, fyneſſe and parfitneſſe, that the ſeid Cloth excelled the Cloth of eny other Region or Cuntre, and was deſired and caried into all Reames of Criſtendome; by the which makyng, every man and woman of reſonable age unoccupied, deſired to be put, and were put unto labour of ſome membre of the ſeid makyng; wherby ydelnes, and the braunches of myſgovernaunce, riot, and vices growyng fro it, were hated, rebuked and exiled. And where many yeres it hath been, and in thees dayes it is ſoo, that the makyng of Cloth, and the membres and requiſites therunto, have and be of ſuch fraude, deceyte and untrouth, that in other Londes it is not oonly had and reputed unworthy, but alſo brent, to the grete rebuke of the ſeid Reame; and by th'occaſion therof, the Cloth of other ſtraunge Londes been brought in grete quantite into the ſame Reame, and there ſold of high and exceſſive price; ſhewyng clerely th'offence, defaute and untrouth, in makyng of Cloth of the ſeid Wolle, the ſpeciall cauſe and grounde of the grete ydelnes, and of the myſchief therof nowe reignyng in the ſeid Reame. And therfore, for the remotion of ſuch ydelnes, and the preferment of Labour and Occupacion, ſuch as hath been uſed by the makyng of the ſeid Cloth, it may pleaſe unto youre noble grace, by the advis and aſſent of the Lordes Spuelx and Temporelx in the ſeid Parlement aſſembled, and by auctorite of the ſame Parlement, to ordeyn and ſtablyſh certeyn Statutes and Ordenaunces, in manere and forme folowyng.

28. MEMORAND', quod quedam Cedula in pgameno exhibita fuit coram Domino Rege, in preſenti Parliamento, formam Convictionis tam Henrici nuper Ducis Somerſ' quam aliarum perſonarum ſuper quibuſdam Proditionibus, Tranſgreſſionibus, & Offenſis proditoriis in eadem Cedula recitatis ſibi impoſitis continens, ſub hiis verbis ſequentibus.

THE XXI day of January, the yere of oure Lord MCCCCLXIIII, it is remembred, that Henry Beauford late Duc of Somerſet, nowe dede, was for dyvers grete, cruell, and haynous offences by hym committed, declared and ſpecified in an Acte made in the Parlement hold at Weſtm' the IIII^th day of Novembr', the firſt yere of the reigne of oure Soverayn Lord Kyng Edward the IIII^th, atteynted of Treaſon by the ſeid Acte, in maner and fourme as in the ſame Acte is conteyned. And that the haynouſite, horribilite and crueltee of his offences in the Acte ſpecified notwithſtondyng, it pleaſed oure ſeid Soverayne Lord, rather of more joy enclyned to the pollicie of peas, unyte and reſt of his Lande, then to motions of frealte in nature ayenſt the ſeid Henry, in cauſe of his ſaid offences, laboured hym ſelfe into forgetilnes therof, and reſceyved and accepted hym to grace, by the meanes of his pretenſed humblenes, mekenes and lowely ſuete, after that toke hym in favour and favourable chierte, ſhewyng unto hym bounteouſly and largely the pleintith of his good Lordſhip, and not oonly to hym, but his Servauntes, to th'entent that therby, of verray gentilnes and the noble honour that oweth to be grounded in every Gentilman, he ſhuld have been ſtablisſhed in ferme feith and trouth unto his Highnes, accordyng to his ſeid duete of Ligeaunce: and of more habundant grace, by an Acte made in this preſent Parlement, by aſſent of the Lordes Spirituell and Temporell beyng in the ſame, and by auctorite therof, reſtored hym to his name, ſtate, ſtile, honour and dignite. And yet netherles the ſeid Henry, ayenſt nature of gentilnes and all humanite, remaynyng ſecretly and fraudeulently in his old inſaciate and cruell malice, to the ſubverſion of the rightwis governaunce of this Lond, and to the deſtruction therof, ſodenly by ſecrete and pryvate weyes, toke his viage prively oute of the parties of North Wales, unto he came into the Shire of Northumberlond, where Henry late called Kyng of Englond, the grete Ennemye and Adverſarie of oure ſeid Soverayn Lord, kept traiterouſly and rebelliouſly the Kyng oure ſeid Soverayne Lordes Caſtels of Bamborough, Dunſtanborough and Alnewyke; to the ſame Henry there adhered, and with hym confedered, to the diſtruction of oure ſeid Soverayn Lord by bataill; and to the ſame entent and effecte, at Exham in the ſeid Shire, the VIII day of May, in the ſeid IIII^th yere, rered werre ayenſt oure ſaid Soverayne Lord. And where
29. Rauf Percy Knyght, after his longe abode in Rebellion, was alſo by oure ſeid Soverayne Lord taken benignely unto his grace, reſceyved after that grete bnfittez of his Highnes, and taken in grete truſt; yet netherles after that, unkyndely and falſely ayenſt the duete of his Liegeaunce, the ſeid Caſtels of Bamburgh and Dunſtanburgh, to his kepyng delyvered by oure ſeid Soverayne Lord, falſely and traiterouſly delyvered unto the ſeid Henry, the Kynges Ennemye; and after that, in the feſt of Seint Marc the Evangeliſt, in the ſeid IIII^th yere, at Heggelaymore in the ſeid Shire of Northumberlond, ayeinſt oure ſeid Soverayne Lord rered werre, purpoſyng then and there his diſtruction. And where A. D. 1464. 4 Edw. IV. Humfrey Nevile Knyght, atteinted of Treaſon by the ſeid Acte made the IIII^th day of Novembr' aforeſaid, for the cauſes in the ſame Acte ſpecified, was and abode after the ſame Atteyndre in priſon in the Toure of London, in the kepyng of the Conſtable of the ſame Toure, brake the ſame priſon, eſkaped fro thens into the ſeid Shire of Northumberlond, and there made commotion of people ayenſt oure ſeid Soverayn Lord; 30.
It pleaſed not for that the Kyng oure ſeid Soverayn 31.
Lord, havyng reſpecte to his birthe, uppon his lowely and humble ſute made unto his Mageſte Royall, to reſceyve hym to grace, and by his Lres Patentes under his Grete Seall, to pardon unto hym all treſpaſſes and other offences, accordyng to the tenour of the ſame Lres Patentes; the which and the grete and large bountie ſhewed unto hym right largely by oure ſeid Soverayn Lord, and alſo the truſt that his ſeid Mageſte toke hym in notwithſtondyng, the ſame Humfrey, as an unkynde and innaturall man, and fals to his Liege Mageſte, traiterouſly adhered unto the ſeid Henry late called Kyng, and with hym, and in his fals and uſurped quarell, fro the firſt day of Aprill, the IIII^th yere of the reigne of oure ſeid Soverayn Lord, at Bamburgh forſeid, toke hoole and full parte, purpoſyng and ymagenyng there and then the diſtruction of his mooſt noble perſone, alteration and alienation of the Dnation of his ſaid Reame, into the power and Dnation of the Ennemyes of oure ſeid Soverayne Lord. Item, where Henry 32.

Alſo where Edmond Beauford 33. and John Beauford, brethern of the ſeid Henry Beauford, William Cary Knyght, otherwiſe called William Caree Knyght, John Gower late of Clopham in the Counte of Surr' Squier, John Yates late of Norwiche Gentilman, John Floril late of Cloford in the Counte of Somerſ' Gentilman, and Thomas Philipp late of Ree in the pariſh of Quyddeſley in the Counte of Glouc', offended heretofore ayenſt their Liege Mageſtie, after that they were accepted unto the Kynges grace, and gentilly, lawefully and rightwyſly entreted, without rigour or violence. And yet netherles, of their mere and extreme malice, have by ſecrett, ſubtille and privat meanes, withdrawen theym oute of this Lond, adheryng unto Margaret late called Quene of Englond, and to her malicious, fals and traiterous opinyon, to the ſubverſion and alteration of the ſeid Dnation, aſſentyng, purpoſyng, and ymagenyng therby the diſtruction of

TO the Kyng oure Liege Lord; Moſt mekely beſecheth youre Highnes, youre humble true Liegeman Sir Thomas Treſham Knyght. That where in your Parlement holden at Weſtm', the IIII^th day of Novembr', the firſt yere of your gratious reigne, the ſeid Thomas, amonges other perſones, was atteynted of high Treaſon, for beyng in the felde beſides Tawton ayenſt youre Highnes; and by auctorite of the ſame Parlement it was ordeyned, that the ſame Thomas ſhuld forfaite all Manoirs, Londes, Tenementes, Rentes, Services, Fees, Advouſons, Hereditamentez and Poſſeſſions, with their appurtenauncez, which he hadde of aſtate of enheritaunce, or any other to his uſe, the IIII^th day of Marche, the ſeid firſt yere of youre reigne, as in the ſeid Acte of Atteyndre more pleinly is conteyned: of the which Atteyndre, and of all executions to be had ayenſt his perſone uppon the ſame, it liked youre ſaid Highnes, of youre eſpeciall grace, to graunte unto the ſeid Thomas youre Letters of pardon under youre grete Seall, beryng date the XXVI^ti day of Marche, the IIII^th yere of youre mooſt noble reigne, by the which the ſame Thomas, from

That it pleaſe therfore youre ſeid Highnes, to take into your mooſt gracious conſideration, howe that the ſeid Thomas, at the ſeid felde beſides Tawton, ſtode menyall ſervaunt unto Henry, at that tyme called Kyng Henry, and Counteroller of his Houſe, and by hym preferred to divers other notable Offices, and in his ſervice brought up of a childe, and ſo as his menyall ſervaunt of Houſhold was there by his commaundement, which commaundement at that tyme he durſt not diſobey. And over this graciouſly to conſidre, howe that ſithen he underſtode youre title Roiall, and that ye hadde taken upon you to reigne accordyng to youre right oure Soverayn Liege Lord, the ſeid Thomas contynuelly hath abiden within this your Reame, never at eny tyme ſithen beyng at eny Journey or Felde ayenſt your Highnes, nor never ſithen wold reſorte nor yeve aide to any of your Enemyes, nor wolde not for noon inſtaunce made to hym by your enemyes be at the feld of Wakefeld, ayenſt the mooſt excellent Prince, immediate Progenitour unto your Highnes, of bleſſed memorie, my Lord youre Fader; nor never was at noon other Journey ne Felde before that ayenſt your perſone, but daily by all the meanes that he kowde, not lettyng for the Juperdie of hym ſelf, hath ſued to ſtonde in the favour of your good grace, entendyng as youre true Liegeman to doo you feithfull ſervice at his power, to his lyves ende. And over that to take into your moſt gracious conſideration, howe that the ſeid Sr̃ Thomas, by the Licence of your Highnes, hath bargayned and agreed with all ſuche perſones as it hath liked youre Highnes to graunte his Lyvelode unto, and the ſame Lyvelode he hath aſwell by your Graunte to hym and to his heires, as by the releaſes, aſtates and confirmations of the ſeid perſones, the whiche ſommes by hym content for the ſame, amounte to the ſomme of MM Marc and more, for the which of grete parte he reſteth yette endetted to dyvers of his frendes, for the contentment wherof he can make noo chevyſaunce of his Lyvelode, in aſmuche as noo perſone wolle take it for any ſuerte of their payment, nor bargeyn, nor marye with his ſonne and heire, becauſe of the ſeid Acte, withoute that he, by the merciable favour and ſocour of your good grace, may be reſtored by auctorite of youre Parlement. That it pleaſe therfore your ſeid Highnes, of your mooſt habundant grace, in conſideration of the premiſſes, by the advis of your Lordes Spirituelx and Temporelx, and by th'aſſent of your Commens, in this your preſent Parlement aſſembled, and by auctorite of the ſame, to enacte, eſtabliſſh and ordeyne, that the ſeid Thomas Treſham, by what name ſo ever he be called in the ſaid Acte or Actes, and his heires, be reſtored and enabled to their worſhippes, enheritaunce, poſſeſſions and lyvelode, and to all ſuytes, claymes, benefices and avauntages, that they myght have or have had, yf the ſeid Acte or Actes had never be made, as though the ſame Acte or Actes had never be made, had nor ordeyned; the ſame Acte or Actes notwithſtondyng. And that the ſeid Atteyndre and Forfeiture, comprehended in the ſeid Acte or Actes, as ayenſt the ſeid Sir Thomas and his heires, be voide and of noon effecte. And that it be lefull to the ſeid Thomas, and to his heires, by the ſeid auctorite, to entre aſwell uppon youre poſſeſſions and youre patentes, as uppon the poſſeſſions of any other, into all ſuch Manoirs, Fees, Hundredes, Advouſons, Annuiteez, Libertees, Fraunchiſes, Londes, Tenementes, Services, Reverſions, and all maner Heritementes, Commoditeez, Intereſſes and Poſſeſſions, with their appurtenauncez, other than he had of the Graunte, or by occaſion of any Graunte of Henry, late called Kyng Henry the ſixt, which he or any other perſone or perſones to his uſe, had or ſhuld have hadde at the tyme of the ſeid Atteindre, or at any tyme afore or ſithen, yf the ſeid Acte or Actes had never be made, in as ample and large fourme, and of like aſtate, as he or they ſhuld have hadde theym or any of theym, yf the ſame Acte or Actes had never be made, hadde nor ordeyned. Savyng to every of youre Liege people and their heires, and everyche of theym, ſuch action, right, title and lawfull intereſſe, as they or any of theym hadde in any of the ſeid Manoirs, Londes, Tenementes and other the premiſſes, or any parcell therof, the tyme of the ſeid Atteyndre or any tyme ſith, other than by youre Letters Patentes made to theym or any of theym ſith the ſeid Atteyndre. And that it be ordeyned by the ſeid auctorite, that noo perſone or perſones that have taken any Goodes or Catelles, or the profittes of any Londes or Tenementes, that were the ſeid Sir Thomas, or any other to his uſe, graunted to theym by your Highnes, by your commaundement by mouth, or otherwiſe by any of your writynges, be not therfore chargeable ayenſt the ſeid Sir Thomas, nor ayenſt any other to his uſe, by way of action nor otherwiſe: And that noon other Acte made or to be made in this preſent Parlement, be prejudiciall to this ſaid Acte or Ordynaunce, but that this Acte take effect; any other Acte made or to be made notwithſtondyng.

Savyng to every of youre Liege people and their heires, and everyche of theym, ſuch action, right, title and lawfull intereſſe, as they or any of theym hadde in any of the ſeid Maners, Lordſhippes, Landes, Tenementes and other premiſſes, or any parcell therof, the tyme of the ſeid Acte made or any tyme ſith, other than by the mean of your Letters Patentes made ſith the ſeid Acte. 24. BE it remembred, that the XVII day of Maye, the VIII yere of the Kynges noble reigne aboveſeid, the Kyng ſittyng in his See royall in this preſent Parlement, beyng then preſent the Lordes Spirituell and Temporell, and alſo the Commons comen for the Communalte of this Londe: It was ſhewed by the Kynges commaundement, and in his name, by the mouthe of the Right Reverent Fader in God the Biſhop of Bathe and Welles, Chaunceller of Englond, unto the ſeid Lordes and Commons, that Juſtice was grounde well and rote of all proſperite, peas and pollityke rule of every Reame, wheruppon all the Lawes of the world been grounde and ſette, which reſteth in thre; that is to ſey, the Lawe of God, Lawe of nature, and poſityfe Lawe; and by ſeying of all Philoſofers, felicite or peas in every Reame, is evermore cauſed of Juſtice, as it appereth by probabill perſuacions of Philoſofers. Wherfore firſt he aſked, what is Juſtice? Juſtice is, every perſone to doo his Office that he is put yn accordyng to his aſtate or degre; and as for this Lond, it is underſtoud that it ſtondeth by III eſtates, and above that oon principall; that is to witte, Lordes Spirituell, Lordes Temporell, and Commons, and over that, State Riall above, as oure Soverayn Lorde the Kyng, which had yeven unto hym in commaundement to ſey unto theym, that his entent fynall was to miniſtre Lawe and Juſtice, and to plante, fixe, and ſette peas thorough all this his Reame, by th'advis of his Lordes Spirituell and Temporell, and alſo entended to provyde an outward peaſe for the defence and ſuerte of this Reame. But firſt that it was to be remembred, the ſtate and condicion that this Reame ſtode yn, other then it didde at the tyme of the Kyngs entre to uſe and take uppon hym his right and title, as verray and rightfull Kyng of Englond; for at that tyme this Londe was full naked and bareyn of Juſtice, the Peas not kepte, nor Lawes duely mynyſtred within the ſame, and was alſo ſpoilled of the Crowne of Fraunce, the Duchies of Normandy, Gaſcoyn and Gyen, and alſo with enmyte envyrounded and leyde aboute on every ſyde, as with Denmark, Spayn, Scotlond, Bretayn, and other parties, and alſo with oure old and auncient Ennemyes of Fraunce, and howe it was then, he reported hym unto theym, they underſtode it well ynowe, for it apperith at iye, and ſhewed it ſelf, thanked be all myghty God. And what the Kyng hath done to the perfourmyng of his ſeid entent, he declared that howe firſt, his ſeid Highnes had laboured a Stablisſhement and Peas in his owne Reame, and alſo he had concluded with the Kyng of Spayne a Liege and perpetuell Peaſe, with entrecourſe of Marchaundiſe, alſo a Peas and a Liege with the Kyng of Denmark, and entrecourſe of Marchaundiſe, alſo an Amyte and entrecours of Marchaundiſe with his olde frendes of Almayn, alſo a Peas with Scotlond for L Wynter, alſo an Amite and Liege with entrecours of Marchaundiſe taken with the Kyng of Naples, and alſo that howe it was in good way for a Lege and Amyte with entrecourſe of Merchaundiſe to be taken with the Kyng of Arogon; which had been doon or that tyme, yf the Ambaſſatours of Arogon had had full and ſufficient power, which he ſuppoſed ſhuld be reſourmed in ſhort tyme: And over that, had made an Amyte and Confederation with that high and myghty Prynce, the Duke of Burgoyn, which ſhuld wedde the Lady Margarete the Kynges Suſter, and alſo an Amyte and Confederacion with the Duke of Bretayne, which two Dukes been the myghtyeſt Prynces that holden of the Croune of Fraunce. All which Labours, Confederacions and Concluſions, he had labored and born on his grete coſt and charge, aſwell by ſendyng oute of Ambaſſiatours, as in reſceivyng of Ambaſſiatours for the ſame, forthewith grete and notable rewardes mony wayes; and all theſe Labours and matiers he had uſed and done at his propre charge, as meanes to a principall entent, that is to ſey, to mynnyſsh and leſſe the power of his olde and auncient Adverſary of Fraunce, the Frenſshe Kyng, wherby his ſeid Highnes ſhuld mowe the lightlyer and rather recovere his right and title to the Crowne and Londe of Fraunce, and poſſeſſion of the ſame. Wherfore his ſeid Highnes was fully ſette and purpoſed, with the myght and helpe of Allmyghty God, and with advis and aſſiſtens of his Lordes Spirituell and Temporell, and alſo of the Common of this Londe, to procede and perfourme his ſeid principall entent, for the defence of this Londe, that is to ſey, to goo over the See into Fraunce, and to ſubdue his grete Rebell and Adverſary Lowes, uſurpaunt Kyng of the ſame, and to recovere and enjoy the title and poſſeſſion of the ſeid Reame of Fraunce, forthwith his Duchies and Lordſhips of Normandie, Gaſcoyn, Guyſen, and other; and to that ende and purpoſe, his Highnes is dailly called uppon, and alſo writen and ſend unto by outward Prynces, as the Duke of Burgoyn, which was oon of the mooſt myghtyeſt Princez of the world that bereth no crowne, and the Duke of Bretayn, and other, ſeiyng and promittyng that and he wold come and procede unto the recovere of his ſeid right and title, they wold goo and labour with hym in their owne perſones, for the recovere of the ſame, at their coſtes and expenſes; for they ſey and certifie daily unto the Kynges Highneſſe, that in their conceytes, there was never noon of the Kynges progenitours or predeceſſours that ever had ſuch a convenient ſeaſon for the recovere therof as he then had, yf it were uſed in tyme. Wheruppon they harken, and the tyme were not uſed, they muſt provide for theym ſelf; for certeyn it is tho Prynces be mortall, and have noo iſſue male, and what chaunge or caſuelte of the world myght fall, yf the ſame were not uſed while there were oportunite, God knoweth; for it is the ſeiyng of wyſe men, that convenient tyme and expedient, wold alwey be uſed and not loſt; for tyme is a grete thyng in avauntage, and better it were to prevente the tyme, and occupie the ſeid Adverſary at home, than to ſuffre hym to entre this Londe, and occupie us here: for douteles and the Kyng goo not thider, his ſeid Adverſary wold come hyder. And what pollecy wolde theryn, he reported hym unto their wiſdomes, deſiryng the ſeid Lordes Spirituell and Temporell, and Commons, conſideryng the premiſſes, and the ſtate that the Londe then ſtode yn, and that as whoſe ſeieth the Kyng had then but oon enmy, that is to ſey, the Frenſſhe Kyng, from whome the Kyng oure ſeid Soverayn Lord had drawen away by meanes the myghtyeſt Prynces that helde of his ſeid Adverſary, as it hath been above reherſed, and ſpecially as a meane to his ſeid principall entent, had labored a mariage to be had betwixt the ſeid Duke of Burgoyn, and his Suſter, which mater amonges many of the Lordes Spirituell and Temporell, in his Counſeill late hold at Coventre was ſhewed and declared, which mater the Kyngs Highnes, be cauſe they were then preſent more plener in nombre, entended then to open and declare unto theym by his owne mouth, and alſo his entent and diſpoſition for the recovere of his ſeid title and right to the Crowne of Fraunce, to yeve their ſad adviſe and Counſeill unto hym in that behalf: Conſi-

29. deryng moreover and remembryng in their grete wiſdomes, his age and habilite, and alſo the grete corage and fervens that he had to the defence of this his Londe, and that he wolde ſpende his tyme in his daies to the honour of the Londe, and worſhip of God, as heretofore his noble progenitours had done: Conſideryng alſo the diſpoſition of the people of this Lond, howe that they muſt be occupied, and alſo that the diſpoſicion and entent of his ſeid Adverſary was to londe, and entre this Reame, and howe God hadde marked and ſette the hertes of his frendes ſtraunge Prynces outward to aſſiſte hym, which daily wrote and ſent unto hym for the ſame, it was mervelous to thynk uppon; and therfore yf the tyme were not uſed, peraventure tho that then were fryndes myght chaunge into enemyes, which were to grete a loſſe. Theſe cauſes and thinges, and meny other, moeved the Kynges Highnes, ſo that he might have th'aſſiſtens of the III eſtates of this Lond, and that every of theym wold doo his office and duete, to procede and folowe the recovere of his Reame of Fraunce, and Lordſhips be yonde the See, for the wele, ſuerte, peas and defence of this Lond, with the grace of God.

BAYERISCHE STAATS-BIBLIOTHEK MUENCHEN

THE Copy, after which The Rolls or Records of Parliament have been printed, was collated with the Original Rolls, the Lacunæ therein filled up, and several Marginal Titles supplied where wanting, by the Rev[d] Mr. Philip Morant (deceased), and John Topham of Lincoln's-Inn Esq. down to the second Year of the Reign of Hen. VI.—And after that Period, the same Service has been performed by Thomas Astle Esq. Keeper of the Records at the Tower, and the said Mr. Topham.—They likewise transcribed the Petitiones in Parliamento, and selected the other Parliamentary Matter which was found on the Pat. & Cl. Rolls, and also in Public Offices and private Collections.—And, for the Preservation of the Transcripts, and that Recourse may be had to them at any future Time when Occasion may require, they have, pursuant to an Order of the House of Peers, been deposited in the British Museum, by the Rev[d] Dr. John Strachey (one of His Majesty's Chaplains in Ordinary), who corrected the Press during the Printing of the Rotuli Parliamentorum, Petitiones, & Placita in Parliamento.

IN some few Instances, where the Imperfections of the Original were evidently owing to the Incorrectnes. of the Writer of the Record, the Print has been secured from the Charge of Inaccuracy, by means of a Marginal Note.

There are however, beside those of which Notice has been taken, innumerable Words and Passages, which, although they perfectly correspond with the Copy, may possibly, on account of the peculiar Mode of Spelling, or the Incompleteness or Obscurity of the Sense, be suspected of being innaccurately printed. And it is particularly to be observed, with regard to the Petitiones in Parliamento, printed from Sir Matthew Hale's MSS., that the Original Petitions not being extant, nor any other Copy of them to be met with, and, consequently, no Authorities now existing, which could justify the Correction of even the most apparent Blunders, the Imperfections of that Transcript have been necessarily retained.

In order, therefore, to give the Work its proper Authenticity, it has been thought expedient to collect those Instances in which the Print differs from the Copy: So that it may be understood, that whatever is not distinguished by a Marginal Note, or otherwise pointed out as an Erratum, is the real and original Reading, however singular the Orthography may be, or how defective soever the Sense.
